RCMP Hold Boy, 16, In Killing

Police Believe
Langley Child
Slain in House

LANGLEY (CP)—RCMP disclosed today that a 16-year-old juvenile was being held for questioning in the brutal slaying of an eight-year-old girl for which a 51-year-old ferry deckhand has been charged with murder.

The boy was arrested after a mother reported her young daughter and the dead girl had been molested while attending a movie April 21.

The bruised body of Carolynne Moore was found early Saturday in the bush about four miles from her home in this Fraser valley community 30 miles east of Vancouver.

STRUCK ON HEAD

RCMP also said today they believe the girl was slain in a Langley home by someone striking her many times on the head with a blunt instrument, then stuffed into the trunk of a car and taken to where she was found.

Held at Oakalla Prison Farm pending his preliminary hearing May 4 on a murder charge is Gerald E. Eaton. He was arrested Saturday morning after police questioned the boy for several hours.

EVIDENCE STUDIED

Meanwhile, an RCMP spokesman said 50 pieces of evidence were to be sent off today to Regina for study at the RCMP laboratory. They include bits of clothing, blood-stained articles and a heavy tire-iron, believed to be the murder weapon.

A pathologist performed an autopsy on the girl's body during the weekend but his report was not made public.

Carolynne had been sought for 40 hours before her body was discovered, lying under a few leaves behind a stump. She did not appear to have been sexually attacked.

The body was clad in the same blue party dress Carolynne wore when she left school last Thursday, thrilled at the thought of going to Vancouver with her mother to welcome her father home from an extended trip to the B.C. interior.

The search began when she didn't meet her mother as expected at the Anglican church here. More than 150 Langley residents and neighbors joined police in a search that covered woods and fields throughout the area where she disappeared.

GIVEN INFORMATION

RCMP Inspector G. A. Gerrie said a major clue came early Saturday when police questioned a teen-aged youth. Acting on "direct information," police arrested Eaton and shortly after found the body.

ASKS FOR COUNSEL

Eaton, a thin-faced, grey-haired man dressed in a blue suit and red tie, spoke in a quiet English accent when he appeared in court here Saturday.

"Your worship, I would like to inquire about legal counsel," he said. "I have asked several times, but they don't seem to have done anything about it."

Gunderson Will Run 'Somewhere'

Possibility that former Social Credit finance minister Einar Gunderson may contest a seat at the next provincial election was seen here today.

He was quoted as saying "Of course I will run somewhere, but there's many a slip."

Mr. Gunderson was defeated in a Victoria by-election by George Gregory in late 1953, and since then has been economic advisor to the provincial government.

Political observers believe there is a possibility Mr. Gunderson may contest the Oak Bay seat when the next election is called.

Premier Bennett said "no comment" when asked to confirm or deny the report.

CBC Wants Yearly Levy On Set-Owners

Radio-TV Probe Told Licences
Best Way to Finance System

OTTAWA (CP)—Changing Canada's system of publicly-owned and private broadcast facilities would increase costs or reduce services, the CBC said today before the royal commission on broadcasting.

Without making a definite recommendation, it also said licence fees on radio and TV receivers are from the CBC viewpoint—the best way to raise operating funds. The licence system was discontinued three years ago.

The CBC made the first submission to the three-man commission headed by R. M. Fowler of Montreal which opened an inquiry into the whole field of radio and television.

The corporation, which regulates radio and television in Canada and also operates radio and TV stations, submitted no specific proposals for changes in broad government policy but offered this view:

"The unique Canadian system has been built on a co-ordination of public and private facilities under one responsibility to Parliament, and a departure from it would either slice the service of the system or increase its cost."

Private stations, the CBC said, have played a large part in building up the national system of sound and TV broadcast. They have a big role in the "rich array of broadcasting that is provided across Canada."

While the CBC did not say directly that it should continue to control broadcasting, its brief said the monopolistic character of

END OF RAIL PAY DISPUTE SEEN BY GREGG

OTTAWA (CP)—Labor Minister Gregg said today there now is a basis for hoping that the rail wage dispute will soon be settled.

He was commenting on a Montreal announcement by the railways offering to resume negotiations with the unions representing 150,000 non-operating employees.

Mr. Gregg said he had received a letter from the railways earlier today and while the companies had not agreed on full acceptance of the conciliation board's majority report, "things look promising."

"The outlook is very hopeful."

Driest April Goes in Records At 4.30 A.M.

With traditional showers conspicuous by their absence, April 1956, is today heading toward an all-time record as the driest April in the history of the meteorological office here.

As of today, only .09 inches of rain have fallen on the three days when precipitation was measurable.

The month officially ends at the weather office at 4.30 a.m. PDT. Unless there is measurable rain by that time, April, 1956, will win the dry April championship.

The weather office believes the record is "in the bag." Forecast is for mostly sunny, today and Tuesday, with slightly rising temperatures, an overnight low of 40 and a high Tuesday of 62 or 65.

RAINLESS RECORD?

Another "dry" record is also possible. This is the 24th consecutive day without rain. The record for the spring season, set in 1951, is 29 consecutive days without measurable precipitation.

This April will pile up a good store of sunshine hours, but will be well off the record of 303 hours set in 1951. Up to and including April 29 this year, 272.4 hours were measured, compared with 290.8 in the same period, 1951.

Cuba Revolt Crushed

HAVANA (UP)—Army forces mopped up fleeing rebels today after crushing an abortive civilian revolt in the seaport town of Matanzas. Unofficial reports said 15 persons were killed and another 15 wounded in the fighting which erupted Sunday.

The CBC feeds programs to many of the private stations. It operates two transcontinental radio networks, Trans-Canada and Dominion. Its microwave television network now operating from Windsor, Ont., to Quebec City will be extended eventually across the country.

Regulations governing all broadcasting in Canada are established by the CBC board of governors under the Broadcasting Act.

FLOODING ON PRAIRIES CUT BY COLD WEATHER

WINNIPEG (CP)—The provincial flood forecasting committee said today it was "possible" that Saturday's crest on the Red River in Greater Winnipeg was the last one.

Committee chairman Bruce Hogarth said the flow from the tributaries has been slowed by clear, cold weather and has made it possible for the river to handle the crest from the headwaters below the border during the weekend.

"This leaves only the foreign water from the Kamsack headwaters of the Assiniboine to come down," he said. "Usually this is two weeks after the local water crest which passed Headingley last Thursday and with weather holding as it is, it might not be much of a crest."

BEFORE SLOAN PROBE

'Call Sommers' Gibson Urges

Former Liberal M.L.A., Gordon Gibson, today demanded that former Social Credit lands and forests minister R. E. Sommers be called before the Sloan Commission.

Mr. Gibson told Royal Commission Chief Justice Sloan this morning that if necessary, Mr. Sommers should be summoned to appear, to back up his charges that a conspiracy aimed at destroying forest legislation exists in this province.

Counsel for Mr. Sommers was present at the hearing. Chief Justice Sloan ordered that Attorney-General Robert Bonner be notified of Mr. Gibson's motion, and said he would hear argument this afternoon.

H. R. Bowring, counsel for the former lands and forests minister, told newsmen his client has instructed him to oppose the motion "on legal grounds."

He would not elaborate. Ron Howard, counsel for Western Forest Management Association, and Lawrence Eckhardt, counsel for the Truck Loggers' Association, supported the motion.

And both stated they would also ask that E. T. Kenney, minister of lands and forests in the former Liberal government, be asked to appear as a witness.

Not Just Personal Attack

Mr. Gibson, who resigned from his Lillooet seat in the legislature in protest over the government's forest management licence policies, said Mr. Sommers' last statement in the House "cannot be regarded simply as an attack upon me."

"Rather, it is a charge that I have conspired with others for profit to 'wipe out' all the legislation that provides for government control in the cutting of our forests."

Mr. Gibson said he understood the Sloan commission proposed closing its hearings next week, after a cross-examination of Dr. C. D. Orchard, deputy minister of forests.

"I had hoped that Mr. R. E. Sommers, former minister of lands and forests, would appear before the commission as a witness," said Mr. Gibson.

"Especially in view of the statement which he made in the legislature on Feb. 27."

He then quoted the following extract from Mr. Sommers' statement:

"Ever since I took office as minister of lands and forests, of the legislature, the attorney-general must be notified. He said that commission counsel Charles Locke would advise the attorney-general of the motion before noon, and that he would determine whether Mr. Bonner chose to be represented in argument on the motion."

Mr. Howard said the commission has heard many times that "it is a matter of government policy," and that Mr. Sommers may be "of great assistance to us" in giving evidence.

He also suggested that Mr. Kenney be asked to testify. Mr. Howard told the commission he had no intention of questioning Mr. Sommers on the so-called Sommers-Sturdy case, or matters ruled out by the chief justice.

Mr. Eckhardt of the truck loggers said he wished both former ministers called, to determine the "line of demarcation" in issuing forest management licences.

Mr. Eckhardt said that in at least three licence applications, B.C. Forest Products, Pacific Pine and Empire Mills, the licence had been "taken out of the hands of the forest service."

"The forest service is entitled to have a definite line taken," he said.

Walk Out of Woods While Five Planes Scour Rugged Area

Two teen-age cadets from HMCS Venture walked into Duncan about noon today while a 50-man search party organized by the RCN toiled over the slopes of Waterloo Mountain, about 10 miles west of Shawnigan Lake. The two cadets became separated from a hiking party at 4 p.m.

Five aircraft also searched the area this morning.

Mixing were: Cadet William McTavish, 19, of Dauphin, Man. Cadet Clifford McKell, 18, of Sutton, Que.

Both are first-year cadets at Venture, the junior officer training establishment at HMC Dockyard, Esquimalt.

They were members of a weekend hiking party of 18 cadets and two officers. The group was making its way down a logging road, headed for Waterloo Mountain, when it was noticed the two cadets were missing. Their companions spread out in a search, and discovered tracks in the snow, headed up the mountain.

The tracks were followed until 6 p.m., when the hikers decided to return to their transport before darkness set in.

When they reached the trucks, they returned down the logging road and searched the area until midnight, when they notified RCMP at Shawnigan.

Waterloo mountain is 3,460 feet high.

Big Search Organized at Daybreak

The hunt was resumed at daylight, with two RCMP officers joining a group of cadets and officers detailed from Venture.

One RCN Avenger aircraft from Patricia Bay, and four light planes from the Victoria Flying Club scanned the area from the air. Personnel from Venture were in each plane.

The search was under command of Cmdr. Ray Phillips, executive officer of Venture.

Both McTavish and McKell were wearing battle dress and stout shoes. The country in the vicinity is described as "rugged."

The hike was one of the regular weekend outdoor activities planned for the cadets, to round out physical education programs and provide a break from classroom routine.

The search was under command of Cmdr. Ray Phillips, executive officer of Venture.

Waterloo mountain is 3,460 feet high.

New Canadian Jet To Be World's Best

TORONTO (CP)—The A. V. Roe Canada Aircraft Company said today it is working on a CF-105 supersonic aircraft that will outfly the Canadian-produced CF-100, which it is intended to succeed as an all-weather jet-interceptor fighter.

The company was commenting on a Toronto Telegram story saying that the plane would be the fastest and longest-range fighter in the world.

Beyond saying that the aircraft will be of delta-wing design, however, company officials would not comment. No further details were being released for security reasons.

The Telegram says the plane is under construction at Avro's plant at nearby Malton, and that it will be ready for trials in 1957, two years ahead of schedule.

The Telegram says the plane is a 34-ton fighter capable of speeds up to 1,500 mph. It was in its last stage of development.

Specifications handed to Avro by the defence department in 1953 had stipulated the fighter must be ready in 1959.

The Telegram says the plane's most striking feature is its size, its dimensions giving it a weight of a four-engined trans-Atlantic

North Star. It would be the largest fighter in the air.

It says the engine was designed and built by Orenda engineers at Malton, and would be the most powerful yet developed.

It would develop 20,000 pounds thrust and 30,000 pounds with an after-burner. The most powerful Russian jet engine is that used by the Mi-109 jetliner, with an estimated thrust of 19,000 pounds.

The CF-105 was designed to fight at 60,000 feet, the highest estimated level of Russian bombers will fly in the next few years.

Its range was 1,500 miles or one hour's flying. Two men would crew the fighter.

HORSE RACING DATES OKAYED

Provincial cabinet today approved racing dates for Exhibition and Lansdowne parks on the mainland, and for Sandown Park at Sidney.

Sandown Park racing dates are from September 15 to October 1.

SHE HAD GIVEN HIM UP FOR DEAD

'Stranger' Living Next Door
Was Father Lost 36 Years

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Mrs. Ora Morgan looked for her father since 1920 and found him living next door.

The 54-year-old widow and her father, Irvin Leslie White, 72, were reunited recently through fate and a faded picture.

Mrs. Morgan left home as a young bride and went to live in Zent, Ark. She lost track of her father, a railroad man.

She returned to Memphis in 1937 and started the search for him.

"I kept asking railroad men about my father. Then one man said, 'yes, I knew him well. But he's dead.'"

She dropped her search. Recently, a "stranger" moved into a rooming house operated by her neighbor. He seemed familiar.

Mrs. Morgan brought out a picture, taken in 1910, of her father and late mother.

"I didn't say anything. I just handed him the picture."

"He looked at the picture and said, 'Lord, that's my wife! MY WIFE!'"

48 SURVIVE CRASH
OF BIG TROOP PLANE

STANSTED, Eng. (AP) — A four-engine York aircraft loaded with British servicemen, their wives and children bound for strife-torn Middle East crashed on takeoff today at this RAF airbase.

Two persons were killed—a serviceman and a child—and six others severely injured. The plane carried 45 passengers and a crew of five.

Eyewitnesses said the big plane, civilian counterpart of the Second World War Lancaster bomber, lurched off the runway just as it began to rise.

A wheel dug into soft ground and the plane spun, smashing a wing and crumpling the fuselage.

KNOW YOUR TEACHER

Backwoods Experience Counts to Advantage

A desolate, deserted house in the Cariboo served as a school to start Ernest E. Livezey's career of teaching back in 1928, and with all its backwoods disadvantages it gave him the subsequent years a solid foundation.

Now a science, chemistry and math teacher at Mount View High school, Mr. Livezey recalls his primitive tarpaper blackboard and makeshift classroom devices in the single room he and his charges called school 28 years ago.

He says it was quite an experience, his first in the interior wilds of B.C. "But I learned how to shoot and hunt," besides chop his own wood and other menial chores.

Born in Edmonton, Mr. Livezey's family took him to England when he was quite young where he was given his first two years of schooling. The family returned to Canada, coming to Victoria, where young Ernest attended Sir James Douglas, North Saanich and Victoria High schools.

He graduated from Normal school here then spent his year in the Cariboo before returning to finish matriculation at Victoria college. He was an honors graduate in physics and mathematics at UBC in 1933.

The next year, Mr. Livezey taught in Duncan and in 1935 he joined the staff of Mount Newton High school. He has been at Mount View since 1946, and in the interim has taken several additional university courses.

He holds a BSc degree in chemistry from University of Washington and a BEd from UBC, taken through summer sessions. Extra courses at both universities have been taken by him.

At school he is a soccer coach, mentoring the only local team apart from Victoria High to bring the B.C. championship to the city. He also sponsors a square dance club, whose dancers are undefeated in local festivals.

Mr. Livezey is president of Canadian Folk Society's Victoria branch this year, has been president of Saanich Teachers' Association and delegate to conventions. He was chairman of last fall's GVTA convention. For the past two years he has been on teachers' salary committee.

He likes square dancing, tennis, badminton, gardening and bridge. Putting his woodworking hobby to practical use he built his family's house over a five-year period.

Mr. Livezey and his wife Adelia Frances have two daughters, Diana, 15, attending Oak Bay High, and Joan, 13, at Oak Bay Junior High. They live at 52 Sylvan Lane.

25 Douks Charged Following Attack

NELSON, B.C. (CP)—Twenty-five Sons of Freedom, members of a fanatical Doukhobor sect, were to appear in police court today, charged with creating a disturbance by impeding.

The charges followed an attack Saturday on Emmett Gulley, a member of the Doukhobor consultative committee. Police said Mr. Gulley's clothes were torn by women in a crowd of about 100 Freedomites.

The women have long claimed he is responsible for some of their children being taken forcibly to a school at nearby New Denver under a provincial move to end truancy in the Doukhobor settlements of southeastern British Columbia.

The Freedomites kept their children away from school and hid them from truancy officers because they claim Canadian schools teach militarism, which is against their religion. The New Denver school has held about 75 children since early 1955.

The consultative committee to which Mr. Gulley belongs was set up after the then attorney-general, Gordon Wismer, asked the University of B.C. to study the problems affecting various sects of the Doukhobor faith in this province.

Mr. Gulley held his hands over his head to ward off blows aimed at him but did not take any other action, a police officer said.

While he sought refuge and a new shirt in a store, the women knelt in a semi-circle outside praying. Those taken away by police sang hymns as they left.

700 Buy Tickets For Tour of Homes

Nearly 700 persons bought $1 tickets for benefit of the Greater Victoria Art Gallery to tour four homes in Greater Victoria Saturday.

Tour stops were at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. George Wheaton, 661 Newport; Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Terry, 3145 Humbler; Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Robinson, 3235 Beach, and Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Gladwell, 3655 Beach.

Dad Killed in Crash With Son's Car

DECATUR, Ill. (AP)—Farmer Roy Jordan, 46, driving home after shopping in Decatur, was killed Saturday when his car veered across the road and collided with another automobile in which his wife and son were riding. Jordan's automobile collided with one driven by his son, Harold, 24. Harold and his mother were not injured.

9.4 HUNDRED

DES MOINES, Ia. (AP)—Duke's great sophomore, Dave Sime, smashed the oldest record in the Drake relays with a 9.4 clocking in a water-logged 100-yard dash Saturday.

NEW MANAGER and part-owner of Victoria's proposed new television station CKDA-TV, Charles R. White, arrived from Lewiston, Idaho, this morning to take up residence here. With offices in the Douglas Hotel, Mr. White is already at work planning programs and schedules for Channel 6. In the U.S. he was responsible for the success of two TV stations. Married, with one son, Mr. White has taken up residence at 2926 Phyllis Street.

... SLAYING

He was remanded without bail or plea until May 4. Police said they believe the girl was taken by car to the spot where her body was found. She had been told never to accept rides with strangers.

SELF-RELIANT

Carolynne "was always a very self-reliant child," her school teacher, Miss Dorothy Peacock, said Saturday. Miss Peacock was one of the last persons to see the girl alive.

"She would always phone home if she stopped to play at one of her friends' houses. If it was raining hard, she would call home from the service station across from the school and a brother or her parents would pick her up."

"She was a good student," Miss Peacock said. "She was very friendly and always trying to share treats in her lunch with her classmates and even myself."

Recalling the child's last day at school, the teacher said: "I remember she was so proud of her new, bright-red hat and her blue dress."

Alice Brown, Carolynne's principal, said:

"A few days ago the janitor brought her to me and said he had found her crying in the school basement."

"She said: 'I've been a brat because I didn't kiss my mother goodbye this morning.'"

"I told her to go home for the day because it was worrying her."

Rev. J. C. Cinnamon of Langley United church, the family's pastor, said:

"You'd have to have known the child to appreciate her."

... CBC

the CBC said it does not oppose the operation of more than one TV station in a community, as sought by private broadcasters, but it would cost money and raise new problems.

Of demands on the CBC to take up color TV, the corporation said it would like to see this development but estimated color would increase its costs about 25 per cent.

The CBC said the television outlook for 10 years depends primarily on the level of funds contributed by the public through Parliament, "given a continuation of the present integration of the whole system under one body responsible to Parliament."

"A change in the structure of the system and the co-ordination of public and private facilities, public and commercial resources in it, would change the whole picture."

$15 RATE NECESSARY

It added, concerning the raising of money:

"At a rate less than $15 per television home per year, it will not be possible to serve the many Canadians who are still without television, and the relative amount and effectiveness of Canadian programming on the Canadian air will diminish."

"At the $15 rate, we believe it will be possible to extend coverage somewhat and maintain the present place of Canadian programming in relation to imported programs."

"With additional amounts, it will be possible to extend coverage to areas without service, to improve the standards and amounts of Canadian programs, to provide alternate service that still has an appreciable Canadian content and to develop color television."

All these, the brief emphasized, were contingent on government decisions on the financial basis of the broadcasting system.

The CBC now operates on about $35,000,000 a year.

Dealing with radio broadcasting, the corporation said it expects to have a continued big job in this field and thinks there are strong reasons for providing coverage for the five per cent of Canadians not now served by radio. Half of these could be served at an annual cost of about $500,000.

"The corporation estimates that a sound-broadcasting service of good quality could be continued through the years ahead for the equivalent of $1 per head of the Canadian population or $4 per radio home."

"This amount would include the maintenance of present standards of service and the meeting of some unavoidable cost increases, but would not provide for any expansion in the present scope of programming."

"It would provide for bringing coverage through new facilities to at least half... of those still without Canadian radio service."

The CBC had this to say of the various methods of general financing that have been used at different times:

1. The licence fee on receiving sets, discontinued in 1953, has been the most satisfactory from the CBC's standpoint.

2. Statutory grants fixed by Parliament for a period of years assure a fixed income but do not vary with the developing expenses of the service.

3. The tax on receivers is falling off in relation to the number of TV viewers and, in any case, bears no direct relation to operating costs. It would be "only luck" if the proceeds in any year happened to be close to current operating costs.

4. Annual grants from Parliament for the full amount of CBC spending could put the service under the thumbs of politicians.

"With such direct (Cabinet) responsibility, inevitably would come direct control over the broadcasting activities of the corporation and, in implication if not in fact, control over programs and of their content."

"There obviously should be no such possibility provided for partisan influence or pressure, if it is desired to maintain the principle of safeguarding broadcasting from political control."

Moscow Reaction Starts Soul-Searching at London

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

LONDON (AP)—Moscow's press is playing up the Bulganin-Khrushchev visit to London as a brilliant Soviet diplomatic success. The Russian tone is arousing some soul-searching second thoughts in Britain.

While it is generally felt here that Prime Minister Eden came off best in the 10-day talks, there appears to be some worry that the British advantage is a temporary one. These are among the reasons:

1. The Moscow press and radio hinted there is a price tag attached to the offer of Soviet assistance in cooling down the boiling Middle East crisis.

2. Moscow is repeating over and over its great satisfaction that the British have signed a document embodying the famous "five principles" for international peace so heavily plugged by the Russian and Chinese in Asia in the last two years.

3. The Moscow press is telling the Soviet public that a Russian success in London was brought about by heads of a nation ardently devoted to a Leninist policy. Such a policy is based upon a conviction that any means justifies the end—the victory of Communism.

Labor Congress Set to Talk Catholic Merger

TORONTO (CP)—The executive council of the new Canadian Labor Congress Saturday appointed six top officers to "establish liaison" with the Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labor with a view to the CCLC joining the congress.

The committee will consist of the three executive officers of the congress and its three Quebec vice-presidents.

The officers who will establish the liaison are CLC president Claude Jodoin, executive vice-president Gordon Cushing, secretary-treasurer Donald MacDonald and the CLC's three new Quebec vice-presidents—George Scholte, Hugues Plamondon and Roger Provost.

TO INVITE WINNIPEG GROUP

In addition, the executive council authorized the three executive officers and the congress's Prairie vice-presidents to work with the one big union with a view to bringing in that 6,000-member organization centred around Winnipeg.

The CLC Prairie vice-presidents are Neil Reimer of Edmonton and Donovan Swales of Winnipeg.

An announcement after the council meeting said two officials of rival TLC-CCL unions which have been raiding each other for membership at Kitimat, B.C., will work together on the Kitimat situation. They are C. H. Millard, Canadian head of the United Steelworkers of America (CCL) and Jack Bruce, Canadian chief of the TLC's plumbers union.

Juvenile Hoodlums Jailed at Vancouver

(From Times News Services)

VANCOUVER—Police continued their "get tough" policy with juvenile hoodlums over the weekend, arresting a score and confiscating a number of pistols and rifles.

One youth was charged with car theft after a speeding auto smashed into a garage at 2532 Prince Edward. The 17-year-old was pulled bleeding from the wreckage and taken under guard to Vancouver General Hospital for treatment. A second youth escaped on foot after the crash.

Police are seeking a 12-year-old boy with an air gun. They believe he is responsible for smashing more than $200 worth of plate glass windows in a West 4th shop.

Charges may be laid against three youths who smashed windows in a private home after crashing a party.

Vancouver police also arrested two 13-year-old boys believed to be responsible for a long series of breakings and enterings in the Industrial avenue area.

BIG INDUSTRY

British iron and steel manufacturing industries employed 450,000 workers at the end of 1954.

Clearing House Asked for Sale Of Indian Handicrafts in B.C.

The federal government is urged to organize Indian crafts into an industry, in a brief submitted today by the B.C. Indian Arts and Welfare Society to a federal committee investigating native educational facilities in the province.

The committee, headed by C. G. Brown, arrived in Victoria to confer with provincial educational officials on school facilities for B.C. Indian children.

The society in its brief recommended that the government assist Indians to organize a "clearing house" or "co-operative" for the sale and distribution of their crafts in the province.

The Indians could eventually manage and operate the industry themselves, the society felt.

The brief said that questionnaires distributed among Indian bands throughout the province showed that 100 per cent are in favor of a "central marketing" system for native crafts.

Many Indians, especially those living in remote areas, are dependent on native crafts for a livelihood, the brief said, but have no means of distributing their wares.

The brief suggested that Indian handicrafts are being exploited.

The brief said: "Wood-carving, knitting, basketwork, slate carving and leatherwork are being produced and sold in considerable quantity, though prices, considering the labor involved, are frequently very low, and in the more remote districts, the workers sometimes find great difficulty marketing their craft at any price."

In addition, the society recommended that crafts should be taught to Indian children in schools by native craftsmen.

U.K. Hasn't Steel to Fill Soviet Orders, Bevan Claims

BELLSHILL, Scotland (AP)—Aneurin Bevan said Sunday night Britain lacks the steel to turn out a long list of industrial products that Russia wants to buy.

To get the steel, the left-wing Labor member of Parliament added, Britain should quit building "so many airplanes that cannot fly" and stop "turning out hundreds of millions of pounds of weapons we shall never be able to use."

"The engineering industry has been overstrained for some time past. If the Russians place orders with us for the production of large numbers of machine tools and diesel engines and all the other things, we will not be able to supply them because we have not got the steel."

Soviet Premier Bulganin and Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev said on their recent visit to Britain that Russia was ready to spend up to £1,000,000,000 on British products.

Narrowing the Gap

WHILE IT APPEARS THAT the Bulganin-Khrushchev-Eden talks in London produced no progress in international disarmament, the formal conference which has been in session in London since mid-March shows a measure of optimism although still deadlocked.

Possibly arising from Mr. Khrushchev's intervention, the Soviet delegate to the conference last week announced a change in Moscow's policy. The Russian disarmament plan submitted to the current sessions had stressed reduction of conventional forces but not nuclear arms. Now, as a result of last week's announcement, nuclear weapons control is placed high in the Soviet program. This brings the latter more closely into line with current United States thinking and promises a better chance of eventual agreement. There are, however, still many obstacles.

Canada is a member of the United Nations sub-committee on disarmament, along with Britain, Russia and the United States. Although it has met intermittently since its formation two years ago the sub-committee has not yet reached agreement on any major point. But hope lies in the fact that the differences between the big powers are narrowing.

On such a basis, friendly negotiation could prove fruitful. In addition, the Soviet delegates appear to have abandoned their former vigorous efforts at political propaganda. When the Anglo-French and United States plans were seen to be markedly different, Russia did not, in the current meetings, jump on this as a pretext for further efforts to divide the Western allies. At previous meetings of the sub-committee this would have been an immediate reaction.

Canada has not submitted a disarmament plan in the current talks, preferring, since it is not a major power, to select what is best from the other countries' proposals. The joint plan of Britain and France calls for disarmament in three stages, but it has been criticized as impracticable in the present state of affairs because it does not give full emphasis to the menace of communism.

When the United States had a clear lead in nuclear development, the atomic bomb, as Sir Winston Churchill pointed out, was all that stood between the West and the huge Red Army. At that time Russia was all for banning atomic armaments and making only minor cuts in conventional armaments.

Later, however, Moscow got its own atomic bombs and dropped its demand for a ban on nuclear weapons. Instead it proposed that the countries represented in the sub-committee freeze their armed forces and military budgets at present levels and then reduce them over a three-year period. Under this plan the United States, Red China and Russia would each retain 1.5 million men under arms, Britain and France 650,000 each. Germany would be neutralized and disarmed.

The latter point, of course, would abolish West German participation in Europe's defence and would deal a mortal blow to NATO's plan for half a million West German troops. It is thus not likely to get far in the current discussions.

On nuclear weapons, the United States has also adopted a new attitude. It proposes a cessation of stock-piling for atomic bombs. But this would only take place, along with a reduction in conventional arms, after a workable system of inspection and control had been established. The latter would include as a key factor President Eisenhower's "open sky" plan for aerial photographic reconnaissance, still vigorously opposed by the Russians.

Armies would eventually be reduced to 2.5 million for Russia, Red China and the United States, 750,000 each for Britain and France, and up to 500,000 each for other countries, including West Germany.

It will be seen, therefore, that the gaps between Soviet and Western concepts of disarmament are being narrowed in some respects. The contradictory forces of goodwill and fear could still combine to bring about a workable compromise if Soviet political maneuvering can be curtailed.

More Haste, Less Speed

THE AMERICAN CIVIL WAR lasted four years, and although it achieved political unity for the states it left cleavages and conflicts between North and South which continue to this day. The problem of the Negro, in the form of a struggle to abolish slavery, played a prominent part in that war.

Today the place of the Negro in American society still engages North and South. It has been brought to a climax by the decision of the U.S. Supreme Court ordering desegregation of educational institutions.

But it appears that much more than four years will be required to solve the issue this time, if an open struggle, including violence, is to be avoided.

The Supreme Court itself recognized this explosive factor in its decision. It included a saving clause to the effect that the integration of Negroes and whites in the classrooms of the land should be pursued with "all deliberate speed." This clause has been invoked in many local court cases, in which Negroes demanded access to public school classrooms for their children.

The courts followed the law in ordering local authorities to admit the colored pupils, but avoided the direct incitement of a "victory or defeat" decision by stipulating that "reasonable time" might be taken to make adequate arrangements for the new pupils. This avoided flouting of the federal law, but gave full recognition to the fact that southern whites will not be hurried in enforcing desegregation.

The process may take many years. But its very gradualism is itself a safety factor, for severe dislocations and resentments obviously would follow any attempt to impose integration overnight.

This fact is recognized by most responsible white authorities in the southern states. They point, too, to the fact that even before the Supreme Court made the move official, a gradual process of desegregation was taking place. One by one universities — such as in Texas and Louisiana — had opened their doors to Negroes, not by reason of court demand but through recognition of the tide which ultimately will result in complete integration of the Negro in United States life.

It has been demonstrated, however, that most progress will be made by the Negro if he does not make too vigorous a demand for his rights under the law. It is an exercise in mass psychology, a vast change in social and economic thinking, which is involved. This creates a situation where too insistent a demand will result in white resentment and a consequent slowdown in reform.

Reassembling the Cartels

WHEN GERMANY BEGAN TO emerge from its wartime rubble, earlier plans to break up its cartels started to crumble.

Phoenix-Reinrohr AG—one of the great combines broken after the conflict—has recently grown bigger than ever. The United Steel Works (Vereinigte Stahlwerke) which was split for "all time" is in the process of re-assembly and an expansion which includes ownership of the Canadian Western Pipe Mills Ltd. of Vancouver, according to Philip W. Wilcomb writing from Frankfurt for The Christian Science Monitor.

The re-establishment of German cartels is neither new nor surprising. It conforms to a development that has been proceeding for the last few years. And it seems to reflect the economic, geographical and probably psychological influences of the German.

For better or for worse the widespread German instinct to combine in huge industrial and business fields has reasserted itself and hope that decartelization would contribute to world peace seems more pious than realistic.

The new Germany, it appears, is going to be fashioned in at least some of the molds of the old.

You Were a Tulip

THE FLOWERS THAT BLOOM in the spring have nothing to offer the teenager today.

How pale the daffodil in comparison to the boy's green slacks and yellow sweater! How shy the violet in comparison to the girl's flowered skirt, gay blouse and bright kerchief! You look not now to the garden for color. You look, instead, to the pastels of trousers, shirts and dresses. This is all to the good—a stimulation of visual enjoyment unknown since an earlier Elizabethan age.

And you catch the spirit of the times with an old song modified by changing the vowel in the verb: "When you were a tulip, a bright yellow tulip, and I were a big red rose."

The Sour Note

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

ANOTHER April gone. Wasted away. Gone off in a decline. Do you remember old novels in which the heroine had a decline? It was a long time before I realized that this was a definite disease, tuberculosis of the lung... so oddly abbreviated to TB... why not TC? ... these doctors are purblind fellows who do not always look at the symptoms of a word. Not always, but sometimes they do, at that, and when they do they are apt to be delightfully literate. There is no better companion than the physician who has read and thought. I wonder if he is a rarer type than once he was. I think so.

SAY what you like about democracy and equal chances for all... in theory it is just fine, but in practice it often amounts to putting a handicap on breeding and selection. And handicap is hardly the word... prohibition might be a better word.

It has always made me laugh to think that the chips who most admire the pedigree of a race horse are the very ones who sneer the most at the pedigree of a human. Of a horse they say "Oh boy, he had a wonderful father, he had a wonderful trainer," and so on, but of a person they say "What has birth got to do with anything? We're all the same."

Are we? Then why do we take a financial and artistic interest in the blood horse? If you can have a blood horse, you can have a blood human too. While intelligently looking for promising freaks and sports who are not the true children of their own parents, and are against the odds. And who, when they turn out to be good, are apt to be very good indeed, if only because their parents were so bad they didn't monkey with them.

I THINK I've said in this column before that the era of the respectable and well-bred doctor was a good time all round. In my opinion it led to better medicine, even. Breeding is a form of experience, and so is reading, and a doctor who has both is a more complete man and can therefore judge men better. For what else is a doctor doing but judging? He even passes moral judgments, and I have heard him doing it, though the better he is, the less does he indulge his moral indignation, for there is no limit to human wickedness and a doctor should be the first man to know that and not be astonished by it as if he were an uncouth bumpkin who had never cracked a book or cracked a human soul in all his born days.

WELL, so much for April and its untimely demise. Her shroud of white stuck all with yew, O prepare it. The yew tree hasn't much to do with spring.

time. Yet I look at it in spring perhaps oftener than in any other season. Since of three-score years and ten, forty-five won't come again. That's what makes spring the saddest season that ever was. Autumn is sad enough, but it's nothing, absolutely nothing, compared with spring.

was once talking with a young lady who despised the poet Housman for what she mistook for the melancholy of old age. In a way she was right... he was born old, and a weak bitter oldness at that, which he tried to disguise with tough talk. There were two women in his life (or the same one cropped up twice, I cannot tell which), and they treated him badly, and it aged him even more. But the reason he got so hurt was that he was also perpetually a kid, for all his pretence, and for all his wise old bogus philosophy, so that his songs are not really December songs at all but terrible ones of an April that turned out wrong.

AND you only get one April per year. Which is sad. And you only get one April per life... life's April... which is far sadder, not only because it happens once and whizzes past, but because at the time your mental and emotional equipment is cheap sleazy stuff, and even if it was better than that, you wouldn't know what to do with it... you are raw, and in a way you realize your rawness and feel sad about that too.

You may recall Housman's song about the dead soldiers: Life, to be sure, is nothing much to lose.

But young men think it is, and we were young. That isn't an old man talking wisely, though it pretends to be. It is a man who was forever imbedded in a vanished April. And he didn't look only at the dog's-tooth violets... though he looked at them harder than you do, and more pensively... but looked at the yew tree too, and looked at it more often than in any other month.

SOMETIMES I think he was wrong to do it, and sometimes I think he was right. Let us banish these gloomy thoughts. Let us think about May, the season when the drum-major's mace is bursting their buds... if I may so express myself. Let us think about May Day, when the workers of the world unite... solidarity for ever... the more abundant life, where a self-respecting toiler can watch television twenty-four hours a day, instead of twenty-two. Or where, in the three-day week of the future, he can see his doctor four days a week... his doctor, who is a child of this age and wants to hurry home to watch television, too, as is his birthright.

April, and birth. Honestly, there are times when I don't think one month is any better than another. And that is an awful state to be in. But whose fault is that? Not mine. My doctor's, maybe.

As Our Readers See It

Invasion

I'm reasonably positive a lot of people in Victoria are not aware that their fair city is soon to be invaded by a band of PIRATES.

This rollicking band have only one thing on their minds, really, and that's women!

In the process of getting their women, which they do, in the end, they accomplish three other objectives:

1. Do a "Robin Hood" for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.
2. Keep alive a duck that keeps trying to die, in Victoria, namely — vaudeville.
3. Make so much noise no one in town could possibly sleep!

If anyone wants to know where on Victoria's rocky coast they land, read your newspaper!

Sharpen up your cutlase, citizen, H-bombs won't stop this mob! You have received fair warning, from a "PIRATE"

Shoe Repairs

In your publication of Tuesday, April 24, Mr. Alex Stevenson said there are only three shops in Victoria hiring help. Now, if he means only the big shops in the heart or business section of the town he is wrong. Because, himself, Inrigs, Joe Manton and H. B. Co. equals four shops with hired help.

Does he consider a son, daughter, wife or partner, where two or more people are working in one shop, as being self-operated?

Where do the shop operators get the idea, that a few can force the other small man to close regardless of whether it is to his own personal advantage or not?

H. O. MUNGER.

That Tax Plan

Mr. Bennett's scheme for direct grants to individual municipal taxpayers may be good election propaganda and smart politics but it is bad financing and bad government.

It is bad financing because the grants bear no relation to the individual's need nor his ability to pay. Thus they are open to the same criticisms as property and home taxation.

For the municipalities the same criticisms apply. There is no increase in provincial assistance to the municipality as a whole. Mr. Bennett's plan does not increase the revenue of a municipality. A municipality in financial difficulties now would still be in financial difficulties. A municipality in need of additional revenue would be forced to increase taxes and thus remove the benefit of Bennett's bonus.

Also, the payment of these grants will reduce the provincial ability to give additional grants to municipalities in need of special assistance.

The scheme is bad government because the provincial authority bypasses the municipal authority and deals with the individual municipal taxpayer directly. To relieve the burden of municipal taxation the provincial government should deal with the municipal government which represents the people. This municipal government was established as the training ground in democracy, it is closest to the interests of the people. The aim of the provincial government today should be to increase the prestige and place of municipal government.

Mr. Laing's Predictions

At the Liberal convention in Vancouver, Mr. Arthur Laing was glowing with enthusiasm after an overwhelming vote of confidence, and made this appeal to the delegates with a qualified promise.

"Give us people (candidates) who measure up to the highest credentials of the Liberal party and I think we can produce you victory, not 10 years from now, but the next time Mr. Bennett goes to the country."

Well, he had 48 such stalwarts in the 1953 election. The pick of the clan. What happened? Not one Liberal candidate had a simple majority on the first count, only four were elected, by negative consent on votes from other parties contesting the election. Gibson and Brown elected by the Social Credit candidate in Vancouver Point Grey on the first count by 1,649 votes and Mr. Gundersen had a majority of first choice votes in Oak Bay.

At Cloverdale last week, Mr. Laing stated "we were going to have a political explosion at the next Provincial election." Has Mr. Laing forgotten we had the "explosion" in 1953? And as was commented at that time "The coalition supplied the tinder and the match."

The alternative voting system the "brain child" of the coalition introduced to keep the Socials and CCF out of the Legislature evidently "backfired" (Mr. Bennett must have seen a long way ahead at that time). Every Social Credit and CCF member now in the house had a majority of first choice votes, were elected on the first count or carried through to an absolute majority on subsequent counts.

Under the simple majority system of voting now in effect, how many Liberals would have been elected in 1953?—None. This may well happen again.

Nevertheless the remnants of the suffrage group (one was liquidated in a by-election in Lillooet) appear to consider they are a political force by Divine right of succession under our Canadian democracy.

At Port Alberni, Mr. Laing made an appeal for six women candidates for the next election, presumably for Vancouver Island. Well, Social Credit has had some politically astute women in our Legislatures too.

FROM WASHINGTON By WALTER LIPPMANN

Problems in Expanding NATO

ON Tuesday Mr. Dulles announced that at the spring conference of the fifteen NATO powers which is meeting in Paris this week, he would join those who wished to see whether the non-military side of the alliance can be developed.

There is a widespread feeling in Europe and in Canada that NATO can be given a new lease of life only if it ceases to be exclusively a military alliance. Mr. Lester Pearson has been saying this for a long time. Gen. Gruenther said recently that the time has come to "move ahead into other fields" under Article 11 of the NATO treaty. President Gronchi of Italy and the Prime Minister of France, M. Mollet, are both ardent advocates of this new course. So, too, is the German government.

The question is what can and what should NATO do on the civilian side? When we ask ourselves this question, the first thing we note is that there is no obvious answer. This is a warning not to try to invent something for NATO to do, not to look about for some kind of made work, a kind of boondoggle, to keep the NATO organization busy.

What, we must ask ourselves, is there something that very much needs to be done that NATO alone can do?

Common Policies

The answer, I venture to think, is that the NATO powers very much need to find means of forming common policies with the world that is outside of NATO. Another way to put this would be to say that NATO, having become a military power, needs to be able to form and conduct a foreign policy.

To say this is to differ with those who think that the new function should be in the economic field. Mr. Dulles is, I think, quite right in holding that NATO is not the best organization for dealing with economic affairs within the Atlantic community.

There is a better agency for that, the OEEC, not only because it includes Switzerland but because in economic affairs it has an expertness and an experience that NATO does not have.

Mr. Dulles is suggesting that NATO might be used to deal with economic affairs outside of Europe. M. Mollet and others have proposed that economic aid to the underdeveloped countries be administered through NATO.

Bitter Opposition

I wonder. Is it not certain that the attempt to use NATO, which is primarily a military alliance, to administer economic aid would encounter the bitter opposition of the unaligned countries of Asia and Africa? Can anyone imagine Burma and Ceylon or Egypt or India or Indonesia allowing NATO to play a leading part in its economic development?

We come back then to the political field. Here something new in the way of consultation very much needs to be worked out.

When we look at NATO today, keeping in mind the purpose for which it was organized seven years ago, we find a great change.

In 1949 our primary concern was with the defence of Western Europe, which was then in effect disarmed, against invasion and conquest by the Red Army. In 1956 the "greatest concern" of the Western Powers is not the military defence of NATO territory but the safeguarding of the vital interests of the West in Asia, the Middle East and Africa.

Seven years ago our eyes were on the frontiers of the NATO countries. Now our eyes are on countries far outside of NATO and not included in the guarantees of the NATO pact.

The principal military powers on which the military force of NATO rests are today the United States, Great Britain and France. All three are deeply involved outside the European territory of NATO—the French in Africa, the British in the Middle East, the United States in the Far East.

If they are involved in war outside of NATO what can they expect of their allies in NATO? And what can their allies in NATO expect of them?

Wide Obligations

There are problems here which very much need to be clarified. NATO is theoretically a regional alliance, involving no obligations outside its own carefully defined boundaries. Yet the leading military nations in NATO have great interests and obligations beyond those boundaries.

As NATO is certain to be involved in what happens outside of NATO, how is NATO to have some say in what is done outside of NATO? This is, one might say, the great constitutional problem of NATO, and it very much needs to be studied and dealt with.

VITAL MESSAGE

There is every reason to expect that if our society continues to progress along its present lines we shall have more coronary thrombosis in the future, not less. Over and above that, it is already clear that in the modification of personal behavior of diet, smoking, physical exercise and the rest, which look like providing at any rate part of the answer, the responsibility of the individual for his own health will be far greater than formerly. It will not be possible to impose from without (as drains were built) the new forms of behavior better serving the needs of middle and old age. They will only thrive on a new kind of partnership between the community and individual. And it turns out that the wisdom of the body and understanding of the heart begin with a rather dull "moderation in all things," perhaps even that is not a negligible message from preventive medicine to these over-exciting times.

Dr. J. N. Morris, director of the Social Medicine Research Unit of the British Medical Research Council.

Those Modern Pilgrims

AS part of my struggle with the junior matriculation course known as "English 91," I've been reading Chaucer's Prologue to the Canterbury Tales.

I've been reading it with far more pleasure than I ever did as a student of 19. I've been enjoying it because, at the ripe old age of 45, I've met all these people described by Chaucer.

Their clothes have been different. Their language has been different. They haven't been pilgrims riding down to Canterbury in the 14th century.

But they've been Chaucer's people all the same.

I've met the knight who loved all freedom, honor and courtesy, and fought in many wars. I knew his bearing which was as meek as that of a maid. I know that in his lifetime he never said an ill-bred word to serf or man of might. ("He was a very perfect gentle knight.")

I've seen his youthful squire who tried to train his hair to curliness. (I bet you have, too!)

With matronly interest, I've noted that he wore the latest clothes. Admittedly, his gown was not "quite short, and all embroidered like a mead." No Sirree! It had flamingos and hibiscus and hula hula girls. Nor were his sleeves "extremely long and very, very wide." But, like Chaucer's youth, he was "as fresh as the month of May." Real fresh!

I've met the Nun. Only she wasn't a nun. She was a mining female at a woman's tea.

Ruth

"Her courtesy... So overcame it strained gentility. Her table manners were indeed a treat: With dainty grace she reached to take her meat: Her upper lip she wiped so very clean That never was the slightest fraction seen Of grease within the rim upon her cup."

I've met the pleasure-loving monk who didn't give a plucked hen for the law which said that monks must stay at home and labor. I've met the "Friar" who said he never seemed to gain his ends by helping sick and poor—the vulgar soul! To have to deal with those who beg their bread, he said, would never get him anywhere. So he kept in touch with richer folk and prosperous country squires!

I've met "the self-made man who talked you blue with all the business deals that he'd put through."

In my youth, I knew a scholar "who'd rather spend his gold on books than food, or on gay clothes or fun." (But I haven't met one like this for many years. Do they still exist? On this continent? Or only in Russia, where, I understand, they have a passion for education?)

I've been around enough to get a chuckle from Chaucer's physician. ("And his prescriptions gave the druggist trade. For each, brisk business for the other made.")

I've met the saintly Parson. I know the Plowman who lived in peace and perfect charity. I know the Miller who was a thickset lout, and could break a door right off its hinges by running at it with his burly head.

I've known for many years that Chaucer was called the "Father of English literature."

Only recently, however, have I realized what a good companion he is with his humor, his realism, his caustic wit and his excellent grip on what might almost be our modern world.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Teeth X-Rays in 40 Seconds

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine Mayo Foundation.

An x-ray machine is now being developed by the National Bureau of Standards, the U.S. Air Force dental service and the USAF school of aviation medicine, a machine that will take a picture of all the teeth with one panoramic movement. As the x-ray tube behind the person moves in one way, a film-carrier moves at the same rate in the opposite direction. The doctors hope that, before long, a man will walk into a room, and without even sitting down, will have his dental pictures made almost instantly.

As I have said before in this column, a very hopeful new type of psychiatry is now coming to the fore, a type in which, instead of spinning endless theories (many of them very silly) as to why people and especially psychotic people behave in certain ways, physiologists and others are studying how the brain and the nervous system work, sometimes in simple and primitive animals.

In a very interesting article in the April number of the Scientific American, Wm. G. van der Kloot tells how the normal silkworm waves about as it spins the cocoon around itself. This is an intricate process, and as Dr. van der Kloot says, the study of how the worm goes at the problem can tell us much about the workings of its very simple type of brain—if the ganglions in the silkworm's front end can be called a brain.

As he says, beavers build dams, men build cathedrals, and silkworms build cocoons, and all these structures depend primarily on the action of nerve cells. Recently (as I remember in the Scientific American), there was a marvelous article on the ways in which spiders can be used as test agents for minute amounts of the new drugs which are being developed to affect favorably the brains of mentally disturbed persons. A normal spider of a certain species always builds a certain type of net and with a certain sequence of movements. Give the spider a tiny dose of some drug which affects his brain and he builds a different kind of a net.

Now, Dr. van der Kloot shows that if one operates in various ways on the brain of a silkworm (incidentally, I hope the anti-vivisectionists do not write me a lot of nasty letters about this!) the worm makes a botched cocoon.

As long as a silkworm has a brain connected to a few of its muscles at its front end, these muscles will drag the rest of the body through the usual movements of spinning and the worm will do its best to make a normal cocoon. If the brain is completely removed, the worm retains its co-ordination; it can crawl and climb, but it no longer attempts to spin a cocoon. If one hemisphere of the brain is separated from another, the silkworm spins silk but it makes a mat that lies on a flat surface. By destroying with a very tiny electric needle various parts of the little brain, experimenters have found that at least half of the brain has nothing to do with the making of a cocoon. One tiny area was found to be the most important one, and damage to this always produced profound changes in the spinning behavior. This region corresponds to a similar area in the human brain that is very important to man.

Curiously, if one plugs up the little hole through which the silken thread is extruded the worm goes through all the motions of making a cocoon, but if one removes the silk glands surgically the worm's movements are disorganized. Evidently, there must be a sort of feedback from these glands to the brain. The brain must feel that it is doing a good job.

As Dr. van der Kloot says, if one is to learn something about the workings of a brain, one had better begin with the simplest brains and not with those higher ones in which the number of nerve tracts runs into the millions. What is remarkable is that what one learns with the silkworm immediately throws light on what happens in man.

COST OF MEDICAL EDUCATION

Dr. Bert L. Halter, of Stanford Medical School, just wrote that the Board of Trustees has raised the medical tuition from $870 to $1,000 a year. This sounds bad, but even this amount will cover only one-quarter of the present annual cost per student in the Department of Medicine.

CONTACT LENSES AFTER CATARACTS

Miss Annette M. Snapper has written describing her favorable experience with contact lenses after removal of cataracts. She says the results she obtained with the contact lenses are much better than they were with the usual big thick lenses put before the eyes in the usual frames.

TROPHY TIME IN TIMES ISLAND GOLF CHAMPIONSHIPS

Times Vancouver Island Match Play Open Golf Championships wound up at Colwood Golf Club Sunday with Laurie Kerr winning the title from Vince Clarkson.

3 and 2, and George Buckingham taking the handicap event from Mel Carlow, 1 up, in the 36-hole finals. At left, Kerr holds the Times Trophy, emblematic of the Island title, while in the second picture he blasts out of trouble in a ditch on the 28th hole on his way to victory. Times publisher, Stuart Keate, presents the runner-up prize to Vince Clarkson in the third picture, while in the fourth, Hugh Francis, left, presents the Francis Trophy to Buckingham.

Rookies Get Call In Irish Debut

A healthy smattering of youth plus the needed backbone of experience will be Whitey Severson's answer to Vancouver Pilseners Wednesday night at Memorial Arena in the opening game of the 1956 Intercity Lacrosse League season.

Severson, freshman coach of the Mann Cup champion Victoria Shamrocks, has selected four rookies to go for him Wednesday alongside the veterans, and has a few more standing by should things go astray.

Those getting the nod for the opener are Foul Bay junior Art Green, interior hotshot Bert Bertola and ex-junior Shamrocks Ed Longpre and Ed Kowalek.

Bertola and Green will flank Jackie Northup on one line and the two youthful Eddies will hit the floor along with wily Archie Browning.

Harry Irwin, Al Gill and Pee-wee Bradshaw will form the other forward line, while Bill Bamford and Al Davies; Bob Monaghan and Jackie Thompson will perform defensive duties in front of Gordy Johnston.

Lou Landess will be utility, but will see "plenty of work," according to Severson.

Those standing by and who may make the trip to New Westminster Thursday are Mel Davison, who spent some time with Nanaimo last year, Jackie Milburn and former Rock Art Green. Rookie netminder Don Hamilton will be available for both games but will not strip.

Netters Gain Second Round Of Cup Play

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Holland, Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia advanced to the second round of the Davis Cup European zone eliminations in weekend play. Sweden, the defending zone champions, were idle.

The Netherlands team completed a sweep of its five matches against Turkey, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia, as Fred Doherty defeated Sefik Fennem 7-6, 6-1, 8-6 and Hans van Dalsen outlasted Nazmi Bari 6-0, 6-3, 6-4, 8-6.

The Yugoslavs clinched their first-round victory over Egypt as their doubles team of Ivko Piecivic and Ilija Panajotovic defeated Adel Ismail and Donald Akobas 6-2, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3. Yugoslavia, which had already won the opening two singles matches, qualified to meet England in the second round.

The Czechs won their third and deciding match over Pakistan as their Javorsky-Parma pair downed the Itakar Ahmed-Said team 6-3, 10-8, 5-7, 6-2.

Little Tops Las Vegas Tee Tourney

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—California's Gene Littler won the $38,500 Tournament of Champions in a rousing last round Sunday duel with Cary Middlecoff.

Al Balding of Toronto fired a four-under-par 68, the best score of the last round, to pull into a three-way tie for fourth money, eight strokes behind Littler.

Littler, winning this event for the second straight year, fired a one-under-par 71 for a 72-hole score of 281. Four strokes back came Middlecoff after a gallant struggle to catch and pass his 25-year-old rival. Littler won $10,000 and Middlecoff $4,000.

Littler held a five-stroke edge as the firing got under way. At one stage Middlecoff sliced the lead to two strokes, but after 63 holes Littler was back on top with a three-shot margin.

Winnipeg 5, Montreal 1
CALGARY (CP)—The Western Hockey League champion Winnipeg Warriors defeated Montreal Royals 5-1 Saturday night to move into the lead again in their best-of-nine Edinburg Trophy series.

It was a lack-lustre game from the outset and the crowd of 7,461 found little to get excited about as both clubs appeared tired following their game in Edmonton Friday night.

In that one Royals came from behind to gain a 5-4 overtime victory and the tie series. Warriors won the opener in Calgary by a 6-3 score.

The fourth game goes at Winnipeg tonight.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Bert Ticehurst, Bert Daykin, Johnny Russell and Johnny Johnston moved into the semifinal of the Provincial Match Play Golf Tournament Sunday at Marine Drive golf course.

Tall, slim Ticehurst of the Fraserview course who last week pulled the upset of the tournament by defeating Langara's Lyle Crawford 1 up, disposed of Bob Moir 8 and 6 Sunday.

Russell felled youthful Brian Copp at the 19th hole after Copp held a 2-up advantage on the eighth. Daykin of Maple Ridge downed ex-Marine Drive pro Garnet Lineker 1 up and Johnston beat Bob Porter on the 17th.

LOSE TITLE BID

Straths Forget Their Lessons

By DENNY BOYD

VANCOUVER — Victoria Strathconas left one vital ingredient at home Saturday when they came here to contest the Province Cup. Strathconas came without the excellent brand of soccer that had carried them into the cup final.

As a result, a poor shadow of the Victoria team, outplayed by Vancouver Halecos and occasionally victimized by the over-zealous linesmen, dropped a 3-2 verdict to Halecos.

The Haleco victory, deserved as it was, prevented Strathconas from becoming the first Victoria team to win the Province Cup in the 34 years it has been in competition.

Victoria coach Willie Hamilton said that Vancouver deserved to win on the day's result but added, "If our lads had played the type of game they have recently showed themselves capable of, I think we could have won. But there was no link between our backs and forwards and we didn't have one forward who looked like he might score a goal."

The game was cleanly played and could have been a fast and interesting match had it not been for the continual stoppages of play for off-sides. On at least two occasions, a Victoria forward was waved off-side when it appeared the ball had come into his possession off a Vancouver player.

Vancouver romped to a 2-1 lead at halftime and played great defensive soccer in the second half. Haleco goalie Ray Dixon was shaken up late in the first half when hit by Victoria centre-forward Tommy Druce. Reserve fullback Norm Giustini took over in the Vancouver nets in the second half and did not have one direct shot to handle. Victoria's second goal coming on a penalty kick.

Strathconas took the lead after 15 minutes when Druce, who had headed off the cross-bar, led a header off the cross-bar, but Vancouver tied it two minutes later when Dave Patterson nudged in a rebound off goalie Pete Winter's body.

NEAT EFFORT
At 38 minutes, Brian Philley, the outstanding player on the field, turned in a brilliant header past fullback Joe Robbins and Winter to give Halecos their 2-1 lead.

Druce put the ball into the Vancouver net shortly before the intermission, but referee Dan Kulai ruled rightly that the ball had gone in off Druce's elbow.

Bob Bruce drove in a picture first-timer from 20 yards out for Vancouver's third goal at 14 minutes of the second half and Hamilton scored Victoria's second goal at 20 minutes on a penalty kick after Ced Robb was tripped.

Late in the game, Robb broke in with Robbins but skied his shot over the goal and out of the ball park.

BOSTON (AP) — Tony DeMarco stalked, boxed and poned his way to a colorless but effective unanimous 10-round decision over ring-wise Arthur Persley of Red Cross, La., Saturday night at Boston Garden.

Kerr New King Of Island Golf

Defeats Clarkson, 3 and 2, In Times Match Play Final

Laurie Kerr, methodical 26-year-old Colwood Golf Club shotmaker, climbed into the throne of Vancouver Island's golf kingdom Sunday.

As grimly determined as championship tournament golf demands, Kerr fought off a stout-hearted rally by Vince Clarkson to win the Times Vancouver Island match play open golf championship at Gorge Vale.

Kerr, former Colwood assistant professional, scored a 3 and 2 victory over Colwood clubmate Clarkson in a 34-hole final that, at times, lacked in polished golf, but crackled with excitement.

Kerr thus takes over the crown vacated by Bill McCall, who won the Island championship last year but was eliminated by the same Kerr last week 8 and 7 in the semifinals.

Kerr will now represent the Island in a 36-hole match against the Vancouver champion for the B.C. title.

For Clarkson, the tournament giant-killer, the disappointment of losing the final was tempered by the fact that this is his first year of serious tournament golf and he said that while he had tried his best to win the title, "Laurie will be a better representative for the Island. I still need experience."

Following the match, Times publisher Stuart Keate presented Kerr with the Times trophy and an order for a tailored suit. Clarkson received a sports jacket and tie from the Times.

Donor Hughie Francis presented his trophy to George Buckingham of the Royal Canadian Navy Golf Association for winning the "B" championship. Buckingham, a 26-handicapper who got 13 strokes from youthful Mel Carlow, had to go right down to the 36th green before beating the slender Gorge Vale youngster, 1 up. Buckingham was three down at the luncheon interval and needed to win the last two holes for victory.

Kerr's happiness at winning the championship was mingled with weariness when he accepted the Times Trophy.

He said, "I'm awfully proud and I'm awfully tired."

When asked if he was worried at any point during the match, he said, "To tell you the truth, I was worried all the way through it. Vince is a great golfer and a very tough customer."

Clarkson gave full dues to Kerr. The big redhead said, "Laurie had it when he needed it today. I'm tickled pink that I was able to get into the final and maybe if I'd sunk a couple of those short putts, I might have won. But Laurie will be a better representative for the B.C. playoff and I need another year of tournament competition."

Clarkson's brush with fame was so close that two three-foot putts in the afternoon round might have changed the entire complexion of the match.

Kerr had a four-hole lead at the end of the first nine in the morning round, being 6 up after 11 holes. However, Clarkson won his first hole at the 14th and then took the 17th to trail by four at the end of the morning round.

Kerr hit a trouble spot on the 23rd when he played a fine hook shot to the green from an awkward angle. However, he used a bit too much club and the ball bounced over the green into a cluster of rocks. He chipped back over the green, came back short and took three putts for a 7 while Clarkson's five put was to be three down.

On the 24th, Clarkson missed the first of the short putts that eventually beat him, failing to sink a three footer for a birdie. Again on the 25th, Clarkson missed a three-foot birdie putt.

On the 26th, Kerr calmly dunked a tough eight-foot putt with Clarkson lying with a two-footer which he dropped for a half.

Clarkson won the 27th to be two down after Kerr hooked his drive into the rough and put his third into a bunker. Kerr restored his three-hole margin by taking the 28th with a three to Clarkson's five but Clarkson fought back to win the 29th. Kerr's tee shot landed in a deep ditch.

Clarkson cut the deficit to one hole on the short 32nd with a birdie, leaving his tee shot nine feet from the flag.

On the long 33rd, Clarkson sliced his tee shot and put his third into a bunker. He finally got down in seven while Kerr got his par 5 to go two up again.

The match ended at the 34th when both missed the green with their drives and Kerr played a fine approach shot to within 18 inches of the mast.

Kerr had a pair of 38's for a four-over par 76 in the morning round while Clarkson was 42-38—80. In the 16 holes of the afternoon round, Kerr was approximately eight over par and Clarkson six over.

ARCHIE DARES ROCKY TO 'RECLAIM' TITLE

TUCSON, Ariz. (BUP) — Archie Moore today claimed the world heavyweight championship and dared Rocky Marciano to come out of retirement to reclaim it.

"If Marciano would fight me again it would prove that I'm the best fighter in the world," Moore said. "I dare him to meet me again."

Marciano announced his retirement Saturday. He knocked out Moore, the world light-heavyweight champ, last Sept. 20 and was undefeated during his 49-bout ring career.

Vic Booters Drop Prep Soccer Final

Vancouver Tech 2, Victoria High 0

Vancouver Technical School romped to a 2-0 win over Victoria High School Saturday afternoon to become the B.C. high school soccer champions.

Tech opened fast in the first half and only twice could the Vics stage a rally.

Both of Vancouver's goals were scored in the first half, and had it not been for the agility of Vic goalie Tom English, there would have been more.

Left inside Tony Nowitsky drove a shot goalward soon after the opening whistle, and it deflected off the boot of one of the defenders and past English for the first counter.

Vic Hi's fought back nobly, but were beaten to the ball every time by the swift-striking, hard-passing mainlanders, and near the 20-minute mark of the first half, Vancouver launched their second successful attack.

Goalie English ran out after the loose ball, but he was beaten to it by speedy Ron Starko, of the Tech squad, who merely guided the ball into the empty net, despite the valiant efforts of Vic fullback Gary Barlow to stop him.

VICS PRESS IN VAIN

In the second half things began to look up for the home team, but despite several rushes sparked by George Vickery and Gary Leibel, they were only able to hold the visitors on even terms, and the game ended with Vancouver gaining the provincial cup, which was presented by Pat Mulcahy.

O.C. CRICKET

Landy Dodges Santee Issue; 'Hopes' for New Mile Mark

By HENRY RIEGER
United Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — World record holder John Landy neatly side-stepped the hot West Santee controversy today and concentrated on training for two U.S. appearances in his attempt to become the first to best the four-minute mile on American soil.

"It would be presumptuous of me, a first-time visitor to your country who knows nothing about the case, to comment on Santee. Let's drop it," he said when asked about the AAU's banning of Santee.

Here to run in Los Angeles May 5 and Fresno, Calif., May 12, he said he was "only interested" in "working out the kinks" through a rugged training regimen.

Shortly after he stepped from the plane which carried him from Melbourne on his 24-hour flight yesterday, he polished off a press conference and then donned his sweat suit for a 90-minute workout on grass at the University of San Francisco's football field.

But before his unlimbering session, the obliging, frizzled hair master of the mile told the press he "hoped" to best the four-minute mark either at Los Angeles or at Fresno.

And although he refused to predict he would better his own world mark of 3:58, he didn't rule out the possibility. He said it could be done "if all the factors are right."

The slender 146-pound prep school biology professor listed the "factors" as weather, track conditions and competition.

Both tracks, Los Angeles' Coliseum Oval and that at Fresno's Ratcliffe Stadium, are similar in texture to the black cinder oval on which he set his world mark in Finland in 1954.

The weather, too, should be similar—in the mid 70s with little humidity.

Brodies, Butlers Must Do It Again

There was only one Victoria and District Football Association match over the weekend but it was a real barn-burner.

Shoemaker Tops Arcaro In TV Race

INGLEWOOD, Calif., and NEW YORK, N.Y. 6 (UP)—Willie Shoemaker had a measure of revenge over Eddie Arcaro today even if it was on a television screen 3,000 miles away from the jockey who beat him in the Nashua-Swaps match race last summer.

This was a match race, too, but there was no betting, no official timing, and no other facts and figures announced.

Shoemaker ran a mile at Hollywood Park on Sun Deck while Arcaro ran at Jamaica in New York on Dan Giddings. The race was run on a split TV screen with one track appearing above the other. The announcer said Sun Deck appeared to be the victor by two lengths.

It was the first "meeting" of the two jockeys since Arcaro won the match race at Chicago aboard Nashua.

College Ruggers Edged in Final

(Special to The Times)

VANCOUVER—Victoria College rugby team ran into nothing but grief and bad luck Saturday in their unsuccessful attempt to win the British-Columbia second division championship.

College was beaten 3-0, by Vancouver Kats, and lost the services of scrappy scrum half Mike Fox, who was carried off the field with a severe shoulder injury and will be kept in Vancouver hospital until Wednesday.

There was no scoring in the close first half and, with 10 minutes gone in the second half, Fox was pined on by a crowd of Kats' players. His shoulder was dislocated and the muscles and ligaments torn.

He underwent surgery Saturday night and metal pins were inserted in the shoulder.

College was forced to play short-handed following Fox' injury and Kats used their manpower advantage to score the only try of the game. Art Coghill racing 20 yards for the unconverted try.

However, the misfortune was not all over for College. Winger Phil Willis ran through the entire Vancouver team and was in the clear for the trying try when he stumbled and fell 20 yards from the line.

New Sulphur Plant For Peace River

Pacific Petroleum Ltd. Signs Contract With Jefferson Lake

Development of the Peace River natural gas fields which will supply the Pacific Northwest is opening up a vast new petro-chemical industry for western Canada.

A contract for construction of a sulphur manufacturing plant, and the sale of northwestern Canada's large new sulphur production, has been signed between Petroleum Ltd. of Calgary and Jefferson Lake Sulphur Company of New Orleans, it was learned here today.

The sulphur will be manufactured from hydrogen sulphide extracted from the natural gas of the Peace River area of Alberta and Canada. This gas will flow into the West Coast Transmission Company's natural gas pipeline, now being built to serve the Pacific Northwest of the United States.

"From a western Canadian viewpoint, the contract with Jefferson is very important,"

GRAIN

WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG (CP)—Very dull trade passed on the Winnipeg grain exchange today. There were reports of parcel lots sales of rye and new crop flax to the continent and a few export orders appeared in the two grains.

Oats and barley had routine domestic shipping demand and the prices moved narrowly. Rye prices eased, reflecting declines in U.S. markets while flax was irregular.

Weekend export loadings of Canadian wheat included: 720,000 bushels to the United Kingdom, 385,000 to South Africa, 345,000 to Japan, 425,000 to Czechoslovakia, 370,000 to The Netherlands and 390,000 to Poland.

Headline prices for Class Two IWA and domestic feed grades of wheat were up one cent. IWA and domestic No. 1 durum was up one-eighth cent. All other prices were unchanged.

Losses ran to a couple of cents at one time but were reduced before the close.

Buying in soybeans followed an official report on heavy crushings of beans during March.

Wheat closed 1/2 lower to 3/4 higher, May 2.36 1/2, corn 1/4 lower to 1/2 higher, May 1.50 1/2. 1.50 1/2, oats 1/2 lower to 3/4 higher, May 65 1/2, rye 1/4 lower, May 1.29 1/2, and soybeans 1/4 lower to 3/4 higher, May 3.21 1/2.

Cash wheat: No. 2 red 2.37 1/2; corn, No. 2 white 1.54 1/2; oats sample extra heavy white 68 1/2; barley, nominal, malting choice 1.30 1/4; feed 1.01 1/4.

It is estimated that within five years production could reach between 500 and 600 long tons daily, or between 180,000 and 215,000 long tons annually.

In the present contract, Jefferson Lake will take more than two million tons of sulphur, thus assuring a market for this new British Columbia product.

Jefferson Lake, one of the world's leading sulphur producers, is now active in the chemical and petrochemical manufacturing business, as well as sulphur production.

"It is our company's belief that this new source of sulphur together with a plentiful supply of petroleum raw materials will attract new chemical manufacturing operations to this rapidly developing area," F. E. Lewis, vice-president of Jefferson Lake, said.

Jefferson Lake, together with Pacific, will construct a plant to process the hydrogen sulphide into elemental sulphur. These plants are located in the Peace River area near the town of Fort St. John, B.C.

A Canadian subsidiary of Jefferson Lake, one of the world's oldest Frasch process (a method of sulphur extraction) producers, will operate the $1,800,000 sulphur plant and market the product.

INITIAL OUTPUT
Initial output will be at the rate of 300 long tons of sulphur a day, or 108,000 long tons annually. (A long ton is 2,240 pounds.)

BUSINESS ROUNDUP

B.C. Trade Group Flies to Germany

By NORMAN CRIBBENS, Times Business Editor

Forty-seven members of Vancouver Board of Trade are due at Hamburg today in a three-week business trip to West Germany, Holland and Britain. Their main purpose is to explore trade potential between Germany and Canada. But one member of the group, Alderman Earle Adams is planning a different kind of exploration on his own—into Communist East Germany.

"I understand trade groups are not allowed into East Germany," Mr. Adams said, "but there is no restriction on individuals crossing the border and I hope to be one of those individuals."

The group will convey official greetings from Trade Minister Howe to the German people, and will attend Canada Day at the Hanover Trade Fair as guests of the government of Lower Saxony.

They will spend Tuesday and Wednesday in Berlin.

Pat Dunn, president of Victoria Chamber of Commerce, returned here Sunday with the additional office of second vice-president of the British Columbia Chamber of Commerce.

At the chamber's annual meeting in Vancouver, Howard Walters, former B.C. Electric executive, was elected president and J. V. Rogers of Trail became first vice-president.

New directors include G. H. Wheaton of Victoria, B. W. Cocks and J. E. Gardner of Duncan, E. L. Hodson of Nanaimo and N. Schroeder of Port Alberni.

B.C. DEVELOPMENT
The B.C. chamber endorsed a proposal to open development offices in eastern Canada to encourage manufacturers to set up plants in British Columbia.

It also backed resolutions calling for a government department of tourism and recreation and a more vigorous program of stocking lakes and streams with sport fish.

The government was urged to continue its battle for lower freight rates for B.C. products.

Sisters Dominate Music Festival

Four Dougan Girls Win, Share In Eight Tropics at Cowichan

DUNCAN—Four Shawigan sisters took home a table full of trophies from the Cowichan Music Festival after prize giving Saturday night.

The children of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Dougan, they won or shared in the winning of eight trophies.

Sharon, the eldest, defeated 11 competitors playing a sonatina in the 13-and-under age group. She also won in the girls' solo under 13 and piano grade 7.

Donna was the best in a class of 13 for grade 3 piano, and tops with a sonatina in the 11-and-under age group. With Louise Kennedy, also of Shawigan, she won the piano duet in the under-10 age group.

HEATHER, TOO

In a class of 17, Heather scored $1 for high mark in grade 1 piano. The fourth sister, Lynn, won the piano duet for 12 and under paired with Ann Craig of Shawigan. She also tied in the Bach class, 13 years and under.

Ann's Convent School, Duncan, won or shared in winning six trophies. Trophies won were for choral speech under 12 years, choral speech grades 1 and 2, folk dance for junior high schools, and Boys' chorus open. It shared trophies with St. Catherine's Indian School, Duncan, in choral speech under 15, and tied with Lake Cowichan grade 2 in choral speech under 9.

Lake Cowichan Ladies' Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Elsie Kirby, competing in the adult choral groups, received the mark of 92, highest awarded in the festival. Mrs. Kirby, with Mrs. Frances Bohemier, also won the adult duet.

Lake Cowichan Junior Girls' Choir, grades 7 and 8, also won a trophy in the high school choral classes.

Graham Steed, conductor of the Victoria Choral Society, was adjudicator of the music section of the seven-day festival. Mr. Flora Nicholson, Victoria College, was adjudicator in the speech art classes, where Lady's 16th students scored heavily. Miss Nancy Ferguson, Central Junior High, Victoria, was judge for the dancing classes.

LAUGH, CLOWN, LAUGH— IN VICTORIA DAY FETE

Volunteers with a flair for buffoonery are sought this week by Greater Victoria Celebrations Association to act as clowns in the Victoria Day parade.

So far, only clown entry is the Elks clown car which bounds along on off-centred wheels, billowing smoke and clanging bells. The Elks clown band has been promised to Nanaimo that day.

Other clown units may be placed in the parade by Victoria firemen and postmen.

Officials feel, however, there just can't be too many clowns to please the children.

MORE THAN BODYGUARD?

Martha Stole Hubby Cop's Wife Charges

WESTPORT, Conn. (UP)—Television comedienne Martha Raye and a handsome young policeman today denied charges by the patrolman's wife that Miss Raye stole his affections while he worked as her body guard.

Mrs. Barbara Anne O'Shea, 20, wife of patrolman Robert O'Shea, 27, and mother of his 16-day-old baby, made the charges in a $50,000 allegation of affections suit against Miss Raye.

"Miss Raye is completely shocked at this totally unexpected action," her attorney, Shirley Woolf, said in Miami Beach, Fla. "She has never had any romantic alliances with Mr. O'Shea."

"It's all gossip and it's a frameup," a friend of O'Shea quoted the policeman as saying. "I haven't even seen Miss Raye recently."

Mrs. O'Shea said her tall, slim and handsome husband took a part-time off-duty job last year as Miss Raye's bodyguard and soon made it apparent that his interest in the five-times-married comedienne was more than professional. The young wife charged that her husband walked out on her the day she brought their baby home from the hospital last week and said he was in love with Miss Raye. O'Shea's family sided with his wife in the dispute and at one time his brother and O'Shea got into a fist fight.

Four-Hour Massed Band Ordeal Leaves Bandsmen, Audience Limp

By LANCE H. WHITTAKER

It isn't easy to tire an audience of parents listening to their offspring making music, and it isn't easy to turn the music-making itself into a dull, dreary chore for teen-agers, but the committee in charge of Saturday's mass concert at the Memorial Arena managed to do both.

Nearly 900 boys and girls were in their seats on the floor of the arena at 7:30, ready to play. At 12 midnight, heavy-eyed and bone-weary, they stood to sing the national anthem. Nearly 2,000 parents and friends, stiff and sore from four hours in the uncomfortable arena seats, breathed a tired sigh of relief.

The marathon character of this climax to the two-day high school band conference has no ready explanation. The printed program, listing 32 separate numbers by bands and orchestras, gave ample warning of a long show.

And it was climaxed by three movements from Mendelssohn's Fifth Symphony, by the Victoria Symphony Orchestra, which would require at least 35 minutes playing time!

The addition of the Naden band and the symphony to a program that was obviously going to take three hours was unfortunate, unnecessary and unexplainable.

The performance was summed up succinctly by a lad who received a special dispensation and left at 11 o'clock, before his band had played its number (he pleaded that he had to rise at 5 a.m. DST to deliver papers). "Somebody," he said, "pulled a boo-boo."

Somebody certainly did.

IF YOU HAVEN'T... YOU'D BETTER AT ONCE

Midnight tonight is the deadline for filing 1955 income tax returns.

Taxation director, C. E. Wesson, said today it is expected that by this time, 98 per cent of Vancouver Island's 83,000 taxable persons will have filed.

"The other 2 per cent are our problem children," said Mr. Wesson.

A 5 per cent tax is levied after midnight on tax unpaid. However, if returns are mailed and postmarked any time on April 30, though not received at the taxation office here for a day or two, there will be no levy.

Persons claiming refunds started filing in mid-February, and returns were made in two weeks. Now, however, with the tax office busy, it takes considerably longer.

BETWEEN TIMES

By

MONTE ROBERTS

My Favorite Wife is thoroughly disgusted at my ignorance.

The other night, out of a clear blue sky, she asked me: "How did British Columbia get its name?" And do you know what? I had to admit I didn't know. "This is a fine situation," MFV scoffed. "A native son of this province, and he doesn't even know how British Columbia got its name."

Well, I tell you, I felt mighty ashamed of myself. And I could hardly wait to get to the office today to ask my colleagues, and find out how British Columbia got its name. Even before I said "good morning" I asked the city editor.

And you know what? He didn't know.

So I asked the news editor and the telegraph editor and all the other editors in sight, including the strange vegetable and peculiar birds editor.

And you know what? They didn't know, either, although they were eager to look it up.

So then I phoned Willard Ireland, provincial archivist (which I should have done in the first place) and, of course, he knew. Its his business to know about B.C.

If YOU know, you can stop reading right here. But I'll bet you don't.

British Columbia was named by Queen Victoria, on the advice of Sir E. Bulwer Lytton, in 1858. This area was then known as New Caledonia, but there was objection to this name on the part of the French.

"Columbia" was suggested because the Hudson's Bay Co. after establishing Fort Vancouver (now Vancouver, Wash.) called this trading area the "Department of Columbia."

The department was named after the Columbia River. And the Columbia River was named after the ship in which Capt. Robert Gray of Boston first sailed up the river.

I haven't been able to find out what the ship Columbia was named after.

Well, to get back to Queen Victoria, she apparently thought Columbia a nice name. But she pointed out the citizens of the United States call their country Columbia, at least in poetry. And the Queen also said there was a Columbia in South America. She was wrong there: the South American country is Colombia.

But, all things considered, the Queen thought British Columbia would be the best name.

And we lived happily ever after.

Now, don't say Between Times doesn't keep you informed.

A faulty chimney was blamed as the cause of a minor fire at the home of H. Holt, 416 Wilson, shortly before 3 p.m. Sunday.

Firemen said damage was confined to a small area. They had to chop through the roof of the building to extinguish the fire which was spreading about a wall and a small part of the roof.

Occupants of the house were away at the time of the fire. The loss is covered by insurance.

Channel 13 To Boom Into Victoria

By PHIL LEE
Times TV Editor

Victoria — Canada's luckiest TV city — is soon going to be luckier still.

Seattle offices of KTVW today reported that some time before the Pacific Coast League baseball schedule winds up Sept. 16, the Channel 13 outlet will be operating at a maximum 316,000 kilowatts instead of its current 100,000 kilowatt output.

This means that the Tacoma-Seattle station, so popular here for its sports programs featuring the Cougars during the hockey season, PCL baseball, stock car races, roller derbies, bowling and basketball, will project a picture three-quarters more powerful than the one currently received in Victoria.

Because of the increased power, Channel 13 will be received in the city by thousands of set owners who can't bring in the channel at all at present. While others who receive it indifferently soon will be treated to a strong, clear picture.

OPTIMISTIC

It was learned also that Seattle radio station KIRO officials, currently bogged in controversy and red tape in their battle to secure a licence to operate a TV station through Channel 7, are quietly optimistic that the original report qualifying them to the channel will be upheld during subsequent hearings.

Including the proposed new local station, Channel 6, there is every likelihood that by this time next year viewers will have eight well-received stations to watch. Should the University of Washington decide to boost its Channel 9 power there will be nine.

Red Shield Drive Starts Tuesday For $38,000 Here

Annual Red Shield appeal of the Salvation Army will open in Greater Victoria Tuesday with an objective of $38,000. Brig. C. J. Milley announced today.

It will include business and special names canvasses, plus a residential drive that will begin almost immediately.

Campaign chairman is Capt. D. J. Proudfoot, and treasurer is Don Johanson.

The campaign will continue to May 31. Funds collected will be used in maintaining the regular Salvation Army program here, assisting the Sunset Lodge project for housing the elderly, and promoting the Yates Street centre to aid rehabilitation of alcoholics.

George Essihos, Pioneer Restaurateur, Dies at 65

THE LATE GEORGE ESSIHOS
Born in Greece, here since 1912.

Funeral service for Kosmas George Essihos, one of Victoria's leading restaurateurs and proprietor of the Vogue cafe, will be held Wednesday at 1.30 p.m. from Hayward's.

He died Saturday at his home, 1120 Burdett, aged 65.

Born on the Island of Patmos, Greece, he came to Victoria from the United States in 1912 and had been in the restaurant business 40 years.

The late Mr. Essihos was a member of the Ahepa Lodge, Victoria Chapter.

Among survivors is his wife, Caliope, at home; four sons, John, Melton and George at the family residence, and Emmanuel, 148 Linden; a sister, Mrs. Maria Karas, Victoria, and a brother, George, in Greece; also six grandchildren.

Interment will be in Royal Oak burial park, with Canon O. C. Jull officiating.

Two Toronto Swimmers To Try Strait

A 25-year-old Toronto garbage man and a 60-year-old Lake Ontario swimmer are the latest Juan de Fuca Strait aspirants planning tries from Victoria early in June.

Coach Steve Mellors, who brought two unsuccessful challenges to the strait last year, will bring his new swimmers here by plane, he announced in Toronto at the weekend.

Ted Simmons, the garbage worker, did a three-mile workout in 43-degree Lake Ontario Saturday at 48 strokes a minute.

The other swimmer, Fearnly Wheatcroft, made a luckless attempt to swim the lake in 1955 and is regarded by Mellors as "a likely candidate" to conquer the strait.

He will be the oldest candidate to make a try since Florence Chadwick, the Times and Bapeo Paint started the strait swim craze in 1954.

"Earlier, Mellors expressed interest in the Junior Chamber of Commerce plan for a mass swim attempt late in the summer, for which they hope to obtain prize money totalling $10,000.

So far Jaycees report a lack of enthusiasm by businesses asked to sign pledge cards for financial contributions to the prize fund. Firms would not be required to put up money unless the Victoria-Port Angeles swim is completed.

Twice-thwarted Big Ben Laughren said he intends to make a third swim try "on the next good tide."

Saanich surveyor Bill Muir, who made his sixth swim attempt last Wednesday—his first this year—said he would try again in June.

Victorians Pass Theological Exams

Two well-known Victoria men were among eight graduated Friday from the United Church of Canada in Vancouver.

They are Frederick Roy Anderson, 25, son of Dr. and Mrs. Murray Anderson, 2786 Heron, and William Van Druten, 37, whose mother lives here at 1031 Pakington.

The pair received testaments, certificates certifying passing of theological examinations, from college principal Rev. W. S. Taylor.

They will be ordained May 18 in St. Andrew's Wesley Church in Vancouver.

Mr. Anderson and Mr. Van Druten have both been preaching at the Columbia Street Mission the past few years, and share a house nearby. The Van Druten's have two daughters and the Anderson's a four-month-old son.

GUEST HERE

Born in Alert Bay, Mr. Anderson attended Cloverdale, Oaklands and Victoria High School and will be posted to Northern Rhodesia following ordination. He expects to leave in mid-July. He will be guest preacher here Sunday, May 27, at First United.

Mr. Van Druten was a former Victoria dockyard worker, and postman in the Fairfield district for years before studying for the ministry.

He was a well-known footballer, playing forward with the James Bay Athletic Association, the Crimson Tide, a senior representative Victoria team, and army units before going overseas.

FULL TIME

"I played a lot of rugby and got involved with a boys' group. I started teaching Sunday school," and in the work found "there was more to Christian living than just going to church." It was, he decided, a full-time job.

Storm Breaks Over Demotion Of Principal

Student Strike Talk in Saanich

A storm of indignation has broken out in Saanich School District 63 as a result of notice given to Arthur E. Vogee, Mount Newton High School principal, that his appointment as principal will terminate in July.

A protest meeting was held Sunday at the home of Rev. William Buckingham, Sidney, when a committee was formed to decide procedures to be adopted.

R. L. Desmond, Central Saanich Chamber of Commerce president, said he was prepared to address students of the school and urge them "to go on strike because the principal is going to be fired."

"Fully 85 per cent of the student body would stand by Mr. Vogee," said Mrs. A. W. Steele.

DEMOTED

Reginald Sinkinson, chairman of the board of trustees for the school district, said today Mr. Vogee would not be demoted, but likely would be dismissed.

"There is no question of dismissal," he said. "The issue is one of administration only." Reasons given Mr. Vogee for the notice were lack of organization and administration in the school, lack of leadership with the staff, and lack of discipline with students. Report to the trustees were made by Dr. Harold Johns, school inspector.

Mr. Vogee is appealing the decision of the trustees. His case will come before a board of reference to be appointed by the education minister, and scheduled to meet May 14.

On the protest committee are Mrs. Steele, Victor Virgin, Mrs. M. Rossman, and Mr. Buckingham. Another meeting is scheduled for Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Sluggett, West Saanich Road.

In outlining the purpose of the meeting, Mr. Buckingham said that, in his opinion, charges against Mr. Vogee were untrue, had arisen from personal prejudices, and were based on "allegations of the most flimsy and insubstantial kind."

Mr. Desmond said it appeared clear that friction existed between the staff and the principal.

Owners Away at Dance In Aid of Fire Victims

A six-room two-storey dairy farm home in View Royal was destroyed by fire early Sunday while its owners were attending a benefit dance for victims of a similar blaze a week ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas William McLennan lost all their personal possessions and about $600 in cash.

Total loss was set by Mr. McLennan today at "about $12,000."

The McLennan farm is about 500 yards west of Helmcken road, on a side road leading from a point near the E & N overpass opposite View Royal elementary school.

Nobody was home when the blaze started. Mr. and Mrs. McLennan and his father, Hugh McLennan, 74, were at the dance in the View Royal Community Hall while daughter Kathie, 15, stayed at a neighbor's place.

MIRACLE

"It's a miracle dad wasn't at home when the fire started," Mrs. McLennan said.

"We had to persuade him right up to the last minute to come with us."

The elderly gentleman, visiting his son and daughter-in-law over the weekend from Burnaby, had $125 in cash and cheques in his wallet, together with his return ticket. He found them after the blaze, scorched almost to the point of non-recognition.

"I'm going to try and get some of the money back from the bank," he said, holding aloft a piece of blackened paper.

IN BOTTLE

"I think this was a $20 bill." The $600 in cash lost by the McLennans was mostly in milk bottles. The sum was large because of month-end collections from the farm's 250 customers.

During the day, Sunday, children from the neighborhood went through blackened debris and found close to $100 in silver, which they turned over to the burned-out family.

The loss was only partially covered by insurance.

The trio left for the dance at 11.15 p.m. and returned home about 4 a.m. The house was ablaze on arrival. Firemen from View Royal, Colwood and HMCS Naden arrived a few minutes later.

WIRING FAULTY

Mr. McLennan said the blaze apparently started in electrical wiring between the garage and the house, which were joined together.

"I believe it was the wiring which started it," he said.

Today the chimney was standing alone against a blackened backdrop of the one charred wall which hadn't toppled in the flames. The mess was still smouldering.

All the volunteer firemen could do was prevent spread of flames to adjoining farm buildings where 50 head of cattle are housed.

Neighbor Gordon Wilkin brought a trailer to the farm Sunday. This is where Mr. and Mrs. McLennan are now sleeping. Kathie is staying with neighbors.

Said Mr. and Mrs. McLennan: "It's a bad loss. We'll just have to rebuild. But as long as we have the farm (38 acres) that's the main thing."

The benefit dance they were attending when the outbreak took place was for Mr. and Mrs. Peter Sheenen who lost all their belongings and $200 cash when an Old Mill auto court cabin near the Six-Mile House was destroyed a week ago.

Car Washing Made Easier With Sponges 'n' Wash Mitts

By PENNY SAVER

Car washing is pretty much a perpetual job, so we might just as well make the best of it and use as many shortcuts and work savers as we can. If you've ever tried to reach the centre of the hood with a big swishing cloth you know how difficult it can be, and how wet and soggy one can become. The situation can be remedied, though, by attaching a foam rubber and plastic car washer on the end of the garden hose. In red, blue or green, the sponge suds up and helps to give your car a good cleaning. It has a shut-off valve at the base of the plastic funnel attached to the hose and the sponge, so that when you're not using it, it can be easily turned off.

If you want to get your hands into the cleaning job, what you want is a car wash mitt. They have elasticized cuffs, and are made from a variety of materials. One pair is of lambs-wool, soft and fluffy, and costs $1.59. Another pair is made of thick nylon and costs $1.39, and still another is of chenille shag in pure white, and costs $1.19.

To keep windows and mirrors clear and shiny, you'll find a little jiffy wash sponge and rubber squeegee perfect. Set into a plastic base, on one side is a strip of sponge, and on the other, a strip of rubber. Suds the surface with the sponge, and clean it off slick as can be with the rubber strip.

They're miniatures of the types used by window washers, and cost 49 cents each.

While you're going over your car and polishing and touching up, you might find a little nick or two, caused by flying stones, or a scratch that you hadn't noticed before. With a few well placed strokes of a tiny brush, you can hide these scratches and marks with a matching car enamel. For 49 cents, a bottle of car-toned enamel is available. Each bottle comes with a little brush, and general directions for effective use of the touch-up liquid.

If you'd like to know where to find any of the items mentioned in the column, call me at 2-3131 and I'll give you the names of the stores where I saw them.

AS WE LIVE

Nice Girls Shouldn't Compromise for Dates

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

When boys want to neck and girls do not, how can the girls handle the problem so they will not lose out on dates?

(Q) "After reading your column about kissing at teen-age parties, we are wondering if you can give us some advice in order to prevent this. We go around with boys a year older than ourselves. They seem to think that the only kind of a party is a necking party. If we don't agree, they get sore at us and won't come to our parties. We like parties and we like to have boys but we don't want our parties to be just for necking."—L.W.

(A) Unless you plan some form of entertainment to keep your guests occupied, your parties are likely to turn into necking parties. Why not plan dancing, card games, going to the movies and, as the weather improves, swimming parties and picnics?

Because these boys are older than you girls, they are likely to look upon you as willing to neck for the privilege of their company. Older boys usually feel that way about the younger girls they date. It is a form of masculine conceit.

If you and your friends do not want just necking on dates, then you must take a firm and united stand against it. If the boys "get sore" at you and turn to girls who will neck with them, then you will have to look for other boys who are more to your liking. I am sure there must be some boys in your school who do not feel that necking is the only way to have fun with girls.

When you are young, being popular with the boys and having lots of dates is very important. However, you will find that the type of boy you want as friends or would consider marrying as you grow older is not the type who is promiscuous or who admires girls who are promiscuous.

Therefore, it would be better to have fewer dates now and limit yourselves to parties with boys of the type who like and admire than to run the risk of getting the reputation of being "easy marks" for any boy. Once a reputation is established, it is very hard to live down.

WHY GROW OLD?

9-Day Diet Offers Pleasant Deadline for Losing Weight

Being human, most of us need one-half cup 'squash, one glass skimmed milk, orange slices. Writers are known to fight their deadlines and even the little woman in the home might procrastinate if it were not for the demands of her family. My point is this—women put off losing weight, over and over again, until some crucial occasion spurs them into action.

This impetus may be anything from getting ready to be a bridesmaid in a wedding, going on a vacation, preparing for the Easter Parade, for swim suits, or seeing an old beau, to doctor's orders for health reasons.

My 9-Day Reducing Diet rewards one with a loss of from five to 10 pounds in nine days. This is a pleasant sort of deadline. You know that you can lose so many pounds within a given short time.

EIGHTH DAY MENU

Breakfast—One egg, poached or boiled, one thin dry slice of whole wheat toast, black coffee, one glass skimmed milk.

Luncheon—One portion salmon, celery sticks, one-half cup steamed carrots, one-half grapefruit.

Dinner—Minute or club steak (small), one-half cup string beans.

If you would like to have my 9-Day Reducing Diet which gives you a loss of from five to 10 pounds in nine days send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Vancouver Wedding in Candlelight

While traditional wedding music was played, Miss Catherine Agnes Baxter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Laird Baxter, Vancouver, entered St. Mary's Church, Kerrisdale, to become the bride of John Faraday Newton, son of Dr. and Mrs. William Newton, Saanichton. Rev. F. W. Thirkell performed the ceremony in the candlelit church which was decorated with pink and white spring blossoms.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her gown was of full tulle with full chapel train flowing from a basque waistline. The bodice and short sleeves were of re-embroidered Alençon lace with seed pearls. She wore elbow-length gloves of tulle trimmed with matching lace and a headpiece of lace which held a chapel-length veil. Her all-white bouquet was of gardenias and stephanotis.

Maid of Honor, Miss Eleanor Baxter, sister of the bride and bridesmaids Miss June Nelson and Miss Diana Robertson, were gowned identically in soft green tulle with long-length dresses. Their small hats were of matching material. Rapture roses were in their bouquets.

Best man was Ralph Hudson, and ushers, Jack Hamilton, Brenton Kenny and Peter Connell.

The Faculty Club, at UBC, was decorated with pink and white spring flowers for the reception which followed. Pink candles were placed around the wedding cake, which centred the bride's table. F. D. Robertson proposed the toast to the bride.

Leaving for a honeymoon trip to Timberline Lodge, Mount Hood, Ore., the bride wore a soft blue wool suit, the hat in tone, and patent leather accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Newton will make their home at Suite No. 5, 5658 Dalhousie road, Vancouver.

Play Groups Name a New President

Mrs. Josephine Clement, Mt. Tolmie Group, was named president of the Vancouver Island Pre-School Play Group Association, at a quarterly meeting held recently. Hostess group for the occasion was the Garden Library Play Group, 1210 Tattersall Drive. About 60 representatives of groups from up-Island and Greater Victoria were present.

Reports were given and an exhibit of children's handiwork displayed and arranged by the James Bay, Elk Lake, Shawanigan and Children's Garden Library groups.

Guest speaker, Dr. Lyda Lythgoe told the meeting that "as parents, if you are inconsistent, the child feels very unsafe. One day it is safe to do a thing, the next day it is not. He doesn't know how to avoid displeasure."

"Lovin' and lickin'" are closely related, the speaker said. "The child needs a continuing experience with both father and mother in order to develop a sound basis for adult relationship with both men and women."

Dr. Lythgoe also pointed out that the ability to make decisions begins early. "If the child is 'a shall I or shall I not' and just never takes action on anything, he'll probably grow up that way. That kind of thinking paralyzes action and goes on in many to the age of 70."

Refreshments were served by St. Alban's group.

New Members—Mrs. W. G. Thorpe, president of the Women's Auxiliary to the Royal Jubilee Hospital, welcomed three new members, Mrs. G. J. Kinnis, Mrs. W. McConnell and Mrs. J. Rose, at a recent meeting. Mrs. K. M. Thomson, head physiotherapist at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, spoke on the rehabilitation of patients after a prolonged illness. Further plans were made for the garden party and tea to be held in July.

Casualty Claims

$500,000

Every Day

CHEMAINUS — Every day the fire and casualty insurance business pays out more than half a million dollars in settling a variety of claims. R. W. Harris, Toronto, public relations officer of the All-Canada Insurance Federation, told the Rotary Club this week.

Speaking on behalf of the federation which represents more than 200 fire and casualty insurance companies, Mr. Harris said the insurance business provides protection against nearly every conceivable risk.

"Claims totalling more than $262,000,000 are paid each year to offset the costs of a variety of mishaps. In this way, the insurance business makes a substantial contribution to Canada's continued prosperity and security."

Mr. Harris said it was the loss figure that regulates the rates which are charged for the various classes of insurance.

MAKE OWN RATES

"Canadians collectively determine their insurance costs through their care or carelessness," he said.

The speaker urged a greater sense of responsibility on the part of motorists. The fact that the insurance business paid out more than $55,000,000 annually on automobile insurance claims underlined the seriousness of the situation.

During the last 20 years, automobile accidents have taken the lives of 38,900 Canadians.

"Enough to fill a small city," he said.

Widely Separated Views Held On 6-Day Business Week in City

A spot check of public reaction to the proposed six-day shopping week shows a wide variety of opinions among Victorians.

They are as divided as the merchants themselves over the merits of the six-day, five and one-half or five-day business week.

Those contacted were asked: Do you think Victoria stores should be open Wednesday afternoon to give shoppers and tourists the six-day week?

Following are varied sample replies:

D. L. Ludlam, 1837 Kings: "Six days a week is okay as long as employees are given the same number of working hours as now. The extended week would mean employment of more people, which would be a good thing also."

J. H. Fry, 1024 Colville: "The six-day week would be a good idea for those stores that cater to tourists."

Mrs. H. R. Paulin, 3067 Lark-

days it would be good for the tourists. We have friends that come over by boat and they like to shop. If hours were staggered for the clerks it would be a good idea."

Mrs. S. W. Taylor, 22 Cambridge: "I'm a housewife accustomed to planning my shopping as far as Wednesday is concerned, but six days open for stores would be fine for tourists, at least for the summer months."

Mrs. S. L. Wilson, 1363 Hillside: "I'm quite satisfied with things as they are now."

Mrs. Allan Wood, 2741 Richmond: "I don't favor the six-day shopping week one little bit. I know it's a half-day and arrange accordingly. Why toady to people in the United States? I do think store employees need a respite and they need that half-day."

Mrs. T. Miller, 2514 Rock Bay: "I endorse six days a week. It's better for all around shopping for everyone concerned."

Mrs. A. L. Raybone, 624 Lampson: "The present shopping set-up suits me fine as both hubby and I have Saturday off."

Fred Randolph, 2541 Roseberry: "I back six days a week. It means more employment, and if tourists arrive here Wednesday afternoon they can't buy a darn thing."

M. P. Quinn, 959 Clent: "I think five and one-half days are quite adequate. I very definitely endorse shopping hours as they are now."

Victoria Daily Times MONDAY, APRIL 30, 1966 23

Mrs. F. H. Purcell, 81 Regina: "Store employees should be given a whole day off. In the old country, stores years ago were open until midnight, but things are different now. However, something should be done about the tourists."

Mrs. J. A. Morrison, 2388 Foul Bay: "I don't think stores being open all day Wednesday makes much difference to tourists. They check what the situation will be before they arrive. I'm not in favor of stores closing Saturday, an alternative proposal."

RCMP Hold Boy, 16, In Killing

Police Believe
Langley Child
Slain in House

LANGLEY (CP)—RCMP disclosed today that a 16-year-old juvenile was being held for questioning in the brutal slaying of an eight-year-old girl for which a 51-year-old ferry deckhand has been charged with murder.

The boy was arrested after a mother reported her young daughter and the dead girl had been molested while attending a movie April 21.

The bruised body of Carolynne Moore was found early Saturday in the bush about four miles from her home in this Fraser valley community 30 miles east of Vancouver.

STRUCK ON HEAD

RCMP also said today they believe the girl was slain in a Langley home by someone striking her many times on the head with a blunt instrument, then stuffed into the trunk of a car and taken to where she was found.

Held at Oakalla Prison Farm pending his preliminary hearing May 4 on a murder charge is Gerald E. Eaton. He was arrested Saturday morning after police questioned the boy for several hours.

EVIDENCE STUDIED

Meanwhile, an RCMP spokesman said 50 pieces of evidence were to be sent off today to Regina for study at the RCMP laboratory. They include bits of clothing, blood-stained articles and a heavy tire-iron, believed to be the murder weapon.

A pathologist performed an autopsy on the girl's body during the weekend but his report was not made public.

Carolynne had been sought for 40 hours before her body was discovered, lying under a few leaves behind a stump. She did not appear to have been sexually attacked.

The body was clad in the same blue party dress Carolynne wore when she left school last Thursday, thrilled at the thought of going to Vancouver with her mother to welcome her father home from an extended trip to the B.C. interior.

The search began when she didn't meet her mother as expected at the Anglican church here. More than 150 Langleys residents and neighbors joined police in a search that covered woods and fields throughout the area where she disappeared.

GIVEN INFORMATION

RCMP Inspector G. A. Gerrie said a major clue came early Saturday when police questioned a teen-aged youth. Acting on "direct information," police arrested Eaton and shortly after found the body.

ASKS FOR COUNSEL

Eaton, a thin-faced, grey-haired man dressed in a blue suit and red tie, spoke in a quiet English accent when he appeared in court here Saturday.

"Your worship, I would like to inquire about legal counsel," he said. "I have asked several times, but they don't seem to have done anything about it."

Gunderson Will Run 'Somewhere'

Possibility that former Social Credit finance minister Einar Gunderson may contest a seat at the next provincial election was seen here today.

He was quoted as saying "Of course I will run somewhere, but there's many a slip..."

Mr. Gunderson was defeated in a Victoria by-election by George Gregory in late 1953, and since then has been economic advisor to the provincial government.

Political observers believe there is a possibility Mr. Gunderson may contest the Oak Bay seat when the next election is called.

Premier Bennett said "no comment" when asked to confirm or deny the report.

FAMILY LOSES EVERYTHING

Blackened hulk is all that's left after $12,000 fire Sunday at farm home of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. McLennan, View Royal. All personal possessions were lost, including $600 cash. Neighbors lent trailer for temporary accommodation. Foreground, H. W. McLennan, owner's father, holds up scorched shirt. See story, picture, Page 11. (Times Photo by Halkett.)

Lost RCN Cadets Safe at Duncan

Sought by 5 Planes; 50 Men
In Rugged Area Near Shawnigan

Two teen-age cadets from HMCS Venture walked into Duncan about noon today while a 50-man search party organized by the RCN toiled over the slopes of Waterloo Mountain, about 10 miles west of Shawnigan Lake. The two cadets became separated from a hiking party at 4 p.m. Sunday.

Five aircraft also searched the area this morning.

Mr. Ling were: Cadet William McTavish, 19, of Dauphin, Man.; Cadet Clifford McKell, 18, of Sutton, Que.

Both are first-year cadets at Venture, the junior officer training establishment at HMC Dockyard, Esquimalt. They were members of a weekend hiking party of 18 cadets and two officers. The group was making its way down a logging road, headed for Waterloo Mountain, when it was noticed the two cadets were missing.

Their companions spread out in a search, and discovered tracks in the snow, headed up the mountain.

The tracks were followed until 6 p.m., when the hikers decided to return to their transport before darkness set in. When they reached the trucks, they returned down the logging road and searched the area until midnight.

Big Search Organized at Daybreak

The hunt was resumed at daylight, with two RCMP officers joining a group of cadets and officers detailed from Venture. One RCN Avenger aircraft from Patricia Bay, and four light planes from the Victoria Flying Club scanned the area from the air. Personnel from Venture were in each plane.

The search was under command of Cmdr. Ray Phillips, executive officer of Venture.

Both McTavish and McKell were wearing battle dress and stout shoes.

The country in the vicinity is described as "rugged."

The hike was one of the regular weekend outdoor activities planned for the cadets, to round out physical education programs and provide a break from classroom routine.

Waterloo mountain is 3,460 feet high.

The defence department in 1953 had stipulated the fighter jet should be ready in 1959.

The Telegram says the plane's most striking feature is its size, its dimensions giving it a weight of a four-engine trans-Atlantic North Star. It would be the largest fighter in the air.

It says the engine was designed and built by Orenda engineers at Malton, and would be the most powerful yet developed.

It would develop 20,000 pounds thrust and 30,000 pounds with an after-burner. The most powerful Russian jet engine is that used by the Mi-109 jetliner, with an estimated thrust of 19,000 pounds.

The most powerful American jet engine, the J-79, could develop less than 20,000 pounds with an after-burner.

The CF-105 was designed to fight at 60,000 feet, the highest estimated level of Russian bombers within the next few years.

Its range was 1,500 miles or one hour's flying. Two men would crew the fighter.

END OF RAIL PAY DISPUTE SEEN BY GREGG

OTTAWA (CP)—Labor Minister Gregg said today there now is a basis for hoping that the rail wage dispute will soon be settled.

He was commenting on a Montreal announcement by the railways offering to resume negotiations with the unions representing 150,000 non-operating employees.

Mr. Gregg said he had received a letter from the railways earlier today and while the companies had not agreed on full acceptance of the conciliation board's majority report, "things look promising."

"The outlook is very hopeful."

Driest April Goes in Records At 4.30 A.M.

With traditional showers conspicuous by their absence, April, 1956, is today heading toward an all-time record as the driest April in the history of the meteorological office here.

As of today, only .09 inches of rain have fallen on the three days when precipitation was measurable.

The month officially ends at the weather office at 4.30 a.m., PDT. Unless there is measurable rain by that time, April, 1956, will win the dry April championship.

The weather office believes the record is "in the bag." Forecast is for mostly sunny, today and Tuesday, with slightly rising temperatures, an overnight low of 40 and a high Tuesday of 62 or 65.

Another "dry" record is also possible. This is the 24th consecutive day without rain. The record for the spring season, set in 1951, is 29 consecutive days without measurable precipitation.

This April will pile up a good store of sunshine hours, but will be well off the record of 303 hours set in 1951. Up to and including April 29 this year, 272.4 hours were measured, compared with 280.8 in the same period, 1951.

Cuba Revolt Crushed

HAVANA (UP)—Army forces mopped up fleeing rebels today after crushing an abortive civilian revolt in the seaport town of Matanzas.

Unofficial reports said 15 persons were killed and another 15 wounded in the fighting which erupted Sunday.

2.5-MILL TAX BOOST IN FIRST CITY BUDGET

A 2.5-mill increase in the Victoria city mill rate was contained in the preliminary 1956 budget presented to city council this afternoon.

Estimated expenditure this year is $7,022,642. Taxes will jump $2.50 for every $1,000 of taxable assessment this year unless council can cut the estimates prior to May 15, deadline for final setting of the mill rate under the Municipal Act.

The increase was blamed on rising labor costs, school expansion and an enlarged program of public works.

The proposed tax rate, 45 mills as compared to 42.5 mills last year, will be split 14.84 mills for school costs and 30.16 mills for general expenditure.

CBC Wants Yearly Levy On Set-Owners

Radio-TV Probe Told Licences
Best Way to Finance System

OTTAWA (CP)—Changing Canada's system of publicly-owned and private broadcast facilities would increase costs or reduce services, the CBC said today before the royal commission on broadcasting.

Without making a definite recommendation, it also said licence fees on radio and TV receivers are the best way to raise operating funds. The licence system was discontinued three years ago.

The CBC made the first submission to the three-man commission headed by R. M. Fowler of Montreal which opened an inquiry into the whole field of radio and television.

The corporation, which regulates radio and television in Canada and also operates radio and TV stations, submitted no specific proposals for changes in broadcast government policy but offered this view:

"The unique Canadian system has been built on... co-ordination of public and private facilities under one responsibility to Parliament, and a departure from it would either slice the service of the system or increase its cost."

Private stations, the CBC said, have played a large part in building up the national system of sound and TV broadcast. They have a big role in the "rich array of broadcasting that is provided across Canada."

While the CBC did not say directly that it should continue to control broadcasting, its brief said the monopolistic character of service without private stations, it said the national cost would be increased considerably.

"For about an extra $1 to $2 per television home per year," the corporation said, "the CBC could probably operate stations, match all present coverage, provided all carried a good deal of commercial business."

The CBC feeds programs to many of the private stations. It operates two transcontinental radio networks, Trans-Canada and Dominion. Its microwave television network now operating from Windsor, Ont., to Quebec City will be extended eventually across the country.

Regulations governing all broadcasting in Canada are established by the CBC board of governors under the Broadcasting Act.

Man Lost From Tug

VANCOUVER (CP)—The search for a 19-year-old Vancouver seaman who disappeared from the deck of a tug in the Puget sound area Sunday has been called off.

Cecil Short was awabing the deck on the Sea King I, an Island Tug & Barge tug, when he disappeared north of Townsend, Wash.

Cease-Fire Pledge

CAIRO (AP)—Well-informed sources reported today Jordan has given a cease-fire pledge to UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld. An official announcement is expected soon, the sources added.

Prayer for Today

O GOD, in the diamond dewdrops sparkling on the topaz of a jonquil, the amethyst of an iris and the ruby of a hawthorn bud, grant that we see proof of a universe created in love and beauty by Thy divine will; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Ex-Minister's 'Forest Conspiracy' Charge Raised at Probe

Former Liberal MLA, Gordon Gibson, today demanded that former Social Credit lands and forests minister R. E. Sommers be called before the Sloan Commission.

Mr. Gibson told Royal Commissioner Chief Justice Sloan this morning that if necessary, Mr. Sommers should be summoned to appear to back up his charges that a conspiracy aimed at destroying forest legislation exists in this province.

Counsel for Mr. Sommers was present at the hearing. Chief Justice Sloan ordered that Attorney-General Robert Bonner be notified of Mr. Gibson's motion, and said he would hear argument this afternoon.

H. R. Bowering, counsel for the former lands and forests minister, told newsmen his client has instructed him to oppose the motion "on legal grounds."

He would not elaborate. Ron Howard, counsel for Western Forest Management Association, and Lawrence Eckhardt, counsel for the Truck Loggers' Association, supported the motion.

And both stated they would also ask that E. T. Kenney, minister of lands and forests in the former Liberal government, be asked to appear as a witness.

Not Just Personal Attack

Mr. Gibson, who resigned from his Lillooet seat in the legislature in protest over the government's forest management licence policies, said Mr. Sommers' last statement in the House "cannot be regarded simply as an attack upon me."

"Rather, it is a charge that I have conspired with others for profit to wipe out all legislation that provides for government control in the cutting of our forests."

Mr. Gibson said he understood the Sloan commission proposed closing its hearings next week, after cross-examination of Dr. C. D. Orchard, deputy minister of forests.

"I had hoped that Mr. R. E. Sommers, former minister of lands and forests, would appear before 'the commission as a witness,'" said Mr. Gibson.

"Especially in view of the statement which he made in the legislature on Feb. 27."

He then quoted the following extract from Mr. Sommers' statement:

"Ever since I took office as minister of lands and forests, my department and myself personally have been subjected to a continuous and increasingly bitter attack."

"The stakes are large enough to warrant the expenditure of the hundreds of thousands of dollars that have been invested in this campaign of destruction in the past three and one-half years."

"The ultimate objective, I can assure you, is to wipe out all the legislation that provides for government control in the cutting of our forests."

"It would be much more profitable to these operators if they were allowed to continue the cut-and-get-out variety of logging."

"Because of the pressure of public opinion, no one will admit he supports the cut-and-get-out philosophy, although the answer is readily available in some of the utterances of the former Liberal member of Lillooet (Mr. Gibson), in the speeches of his logging adherents, and in the evidence presented before the Royal Commission on Forest Resources."

Alleged to Have Lied Under Oath

Mr. Gibson told the commissioner "in other words, these people, of whom I am alleged to be one, have lied not only to the people of British Columbia, but also under oath before this commission."

"If such a conspiracy exists, I consider it should be made known to this commission," said Mr. Gibson.

Mr. Sommers, who has now returned to selling life insurance in the interior, told the Legislature that a conspiracy of Liberals, cut-and-get-out loggers, and the Victoria Times exists in B.C.

"Mr. Sommers has charged that a section of the forest industry has financed by hundreds of thousands of dollars a conspiracy to break the law," said Mr. Gibson. "No more serious charge could be laid, and it is imperative in my view, that it be thoroughly investigated."

"The minister resigned because of this alleged conspiracy. The charges were serious enough to cause him to resign," said the former Lillooet MLA.

Chief Justice Sloan said that because the motion involves "the prerogative of a minister of the Crown," and members of the Legislature, he would not hear it.

She Had Given Him Up For Dead

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Mrs. Ora Morgan looked for her father since 1920 and found him living next door.

The 54-year-old widow and her father, Irvin Leslie White, 72, were reunited recently through fate and a faded picture.

Mrs. Morgan left home as a young bride and went to live in Zent, Ark. She lost track of her father, a railroad man.

She returned to Memphis in 1937 and started the search for him.

"I kept asking railroad men about my father. Then one man said, 'yes, I knew him well. But he's dead.'"

She dropped her search. Recently, a "stranger" moved into a rooming house operated by her neighbor. He seemed familiar.

Mrs. Morgan brought out a picture, taken in 1910, of her father and late mother.

"I didn't say anything. I just handed him the picture."

"He looked at the picture and said, 'Lord, that's my wife! MY WIFE!'"

ARCHIE DARES ROCKY TO 'RECLAIM' TITLE

TUCSON, Ariz. (BUP) — Archie Moore today claimed the world heavyweight championship and dared Rocky Marciano to come out of retirement to reclaim it.

"If Marciano would fight me again it would prove that I'm the best fighter in the world," Moore said. "I dare him to meet me again."

Marciano announced his retirement Saturday. He knocked out Moore, the world light-heavyweight champ, last Sept. 20 and was undefeated during his 49-bout ring career.

Vic Booters Drop Prep Soccer Final

Vancouver Technical School romped to a 2-0 win over Victoria High School Saturday afternoon to become the B.C. high school soccer champions.

Tech opened fast in the first half and only twice could the Vics stage a rally.

Both of Vancouver's goals were scored in the first half, and had it not been for the agility of Vic High goalie Tom English, there would have been more.

Left inside Tony Nowitsky drove a shot goalward soon after the opening whistle, and it deflected off the boot of one of the defenders and past English for the first center.

Vic High fought back nobly, but were beaten to the ball every time by the swift-striding, hard-passing mainlanders, and near the 20-minute mark of the first half, Vancouver launched their second successful attack.

Goalie English ran out after the loose ball, but he was beaten to it by speedy Ron Starko, of the Tech squad, who merely guided the ball into the empty net, despite the valiant efforts of Vic fullback Gary Barlow to stop him.

VICS PRESS IN VAIN

In the second half things began to look up for the home team, but despite several rushes sparked by George Vickery and Gary Leibell, they were only able to hold the visitors on even terms, and the game ended with Vancouver gaining the provincial cup, which was presented by Pat Mulcahy.

Landy Dodges Santee Issue; 'Hopes' for New Mile Mark

By HENRY RIEGER
United Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — World record holder John Landy neatly side-stepped the hot Wes Santee controversy today and concentrated on training for two U.S. appearances in his attempt to become the first to best the four-minute mile on American soil.

"It would be presumptuous of me, a first-time visitor to your country who knows nothing about the case, to comment on Santee. Let's drop it," he said when asked about the AAU's banning of Santee.

Here to run in Los Angeles May 5 and Fresno, Calif., May 12, he said he was "only interested" in "working out the kinks" through a rugged training regimen.

Shortly after he stepped from the plane which carried him from Melbourne on his 24-hour flight yesterday, he polished off a press conference and then donned his sweat suit for a 90-minute workout on grass at the University of San Francisco's football field.

But before his unlimbering session, the obliging, frizzled hair master of the mile told the press he "hoped" to best the four-minute mark either at Los Angeles or at Fresno.

And although he refused to predict he would better his own world mark of 3:58, he didn't rule out the possibility. He said it could be done "if all the factors are right."

The slender 146-pound prep school biology professor listed the "factors" as weather, track conditions, and competition.

Both tracks, Los Angeles' Coliseum Oval and that at Fresno's Ratcliffe Stadium, are similar in texture to the black cinder oval in which he set his world mark in Finland in 1954.

The weather, too, should be similar—in the mid 70s with little humidity.

Shoemaker Tops Arcaro In TV Race

INGLEWOOD, Calif., and NEW YORK, N.Y. 6 (UP)—Willie Shoemaker had a measure of revenge over Eddie Arcaro today even if it was on a television screen 3,000 miles away from the jockey who beat him in the Nashua-Swaps match race last summer.

This was a match race, too, but there was no betting, no official timing, and no other facts and figures announced.

Shoemaker ran a mile at Hollywood Park on Sun Deck while Arcaro ran at Jamaica in New York on Dan Giddings. The race was run on a split TV screen with one track appearing above the other. The announcer said Sun Deck appeared to be the victor by two lengths.

It was the first "meeting" of the two jockeys since Arcaro won the match race at Chicago aboard Nashua.

FOX INJURED

College Ruggers Edged in Final

(Special to The Times)

VANCOUVER—Victoria College rugby team ran into nothing but grief and bad luck Saturday in their unsuccessful attempt to win the British Columbia second division championship.

College was beaten 3-0, by Vancouver Kats, and lost the services of scrappy scrum half Mike Fox, who was carried off the field with a severe shoulder injury and will be kept in Vancouver hospital until Wednesday.

There was no scoring in the close first half and, with 10 minutes gone in the second half, Fox was piled on by a crowd of Kats' players. His right shoulder was dislocated and the muscles and ligaments torn. He underwent surgery Saturday night and metal pins were inserted in the shoulder.

College was forced to play short-handed following Fox' injury and Kats used their manpower advantage to score the only try of the game, Art Coghill racing 20 yards for the unconverted try.

However, the misfortune was not all over for College. Winger Phil Willis ran through the entire Vancouver team and was in the clear for the trying try when he stumbled and fell 20 yards from the line.

BANKER SAYS:

American Capital Needed in Canada

VANCOUVER (CP) — The president of the Toronto-Dominion Bank said here Sunday foreign capital flowing into Canada since the Second World War "has been a great blessing."

Albert C. Ashforth, here on an inspection tour of the 31 branches of the newly-amalgamated bank in British Columbia, said in an interview that to criticize foreign investment in Canada was "biting the hand that feeds you."

Mr. Ashforth said he supported retiring United States ambassador R. Douglas Stuart who recently criticized Canadian resentment of U.S. capital in this country.

"Foreign capital which has flowed into Canada in the post-war period has been a great blessing," said Mr. Ashforth.

"Without it Canada's economic growth would have been slower, our prosperity less and

IF YOU HAVEN'T... YOU'D BETTER AT ONCE

Midnight tonight is the deadline for filing 1955 income tax returns.

Taxation director, C. E. Wesson, said today it is expected that by this time, 98 per cent of Vancouver Island's 83,000 taxable persons will have filed.

"The other 2 per cent are our problem children," said Mr. Wesson.

A 5 per cent tax is levied after midnight on tax unpaid. However, if returns are mailed and postmarked any time on April 30, though not received at the taxation office here for a day or two, there will be no levy.

Persons claiming refunds started filing in mid-February, and returns were made in two weeks. Now, however, with the tax office busy, it takes considerably longer.

BETWEEN TIMES

By

MONTE ROBERTS

My Favorite Wife is thoroughly disgusted at my ignorance.

The other night, out of a clear blue sky, she asked me: "How did British Columbia get its name?"

"And do you know what? I had to admit I didn't know. 'This is a fine situation,' MFW scoffed. 'A native son of this province, and he doesn't even know how British Columbia got its name.'"

Well, I tell you, I felt mighty ashamed of myself. And I could hardly wait to get to the office today to ask my colleagues, and find out how British Columbia got its name.

Even before I said "good morning" I asked the city editor.

And you know what? He didn't know.

So I asked the news editor and the telegraph editor and all the other editors in sight, including the strange vegetable and peculiar birds editor.

And you know what? They didn't know, either, although they were eager to look it up.

So then I phoned Willard Ireland, provincial archivist (which I should have done in the first place) and, of course, he knew. It's his business to know about B.C.

If YOU know, you can stop reading right here. But I'll bet you don't.

British Columbia was named by Queen Victoria, on the advice of Sir E. Bulwer Lytton, in 1858. This area was then known as New Caledonia, but there was objection to this name on the part of the French.

"Columbia" was suggested because the Hudson's Bay Co. after establishing Fort Vancouver (now Vancouver, Wash.) called this trading area the "Department of Columbia."

The department was named after the Columbia River. And the Columbia River was named after the ship in which Capt. Robert Gray of Boston first sailed up the river.

I haven't been able to find out what the ship Columbia was named after.

Well, to get back to Queen Victoria, she apparently thought Columbia a nice name. But she pointed out the citizens of the United States call their country Columbia, at least in poetry. And the Queen also said there was a Columbia in South America. She was wrong there; the South American country is Colombia.

But, all things considered, the Queen thought British Columbia would be the best name.

And we lived happily ever after.

Now, don't say Between Times doesn't keep you informed.

Channel 13 To Boom Into Victoria

By PHIL LEE
Times TV Editor

Victoria — Canada's luckiest TV city — is soon going to be luckier still.

Seattle offices of KTVW today reported that some time before the Pacific Coast League baseball schedule winds up Sept. 16, the Channel 13 outlet will be operating at a maximum 316,000 kilowatts instead of its current 100,000 kilowatt output.

This means that the Tacoma-Seattle station, so popular here for its sports programs featuring the Cougars during the hockey season, PCL baseball, stock car races, roller derbies, bowling and basketball, will project a picture three-quarters more powerful than the one currently received in Victoria.

Because of the increased power, Channel 13 will be received in the city by thousands of set owners who can't bring in the channel at all at present. While others who receive it indifferently soon will be treated to a strong, clear picture.

It was learned also that Seattle radio station KIRO officials, currently bogged in controversy and red tape in their battle to secure a licence to operate a TV station through Channel 7, are quietly optimistic that the original report qualifying them to the channel will be upheld during subsequent hearings.

Including the proposed new local station, Channel 6, there is every likelihood that by this time next year viewers will have eight well-received stations to watch. Should the University of Washington decide to boost its Channel 9 power there will be nine.

Earlier, Mellors expressed interest in the Junior Chamber of Commerce plan for a mass swim attempt late in the summer, for which they hope to obtain prize money totalling $10,000.

So far Jaycees report a lack of enthusiasm by businesses asked to sign pledge cards for financial contributions to the prize fund. Firms would not be required to put up money unless the Victoria-Port Angeles swim is completed.

Twice-thwarted Big Ben Laughren said he intends to make a third swim try "on the next good tide."

Saanich surveyor Bill Muir, who made his sixth swim attempt last Wednesday—his first this year—said he would try again in June.

The extra seating, Mr. Philion explained, was brought about by reducing the size of the stage.

"It will be the biggest crowd in the arena's history," he said. Already 6,100 tickets have been sold and club officials are confident the remainder will go today.

Tickets will be available at the arena box office at 7:15 to tonight, and during the day at E. ton's and Hudson's Bay Co.

Officials completed a dress rehearsal Sunday night with 200 volunteer workers, and 300 "patrons," mostly club members, friends and relatives.

"I went off fine," said Mr. Philion. "We seem to have the mechanics of the affair down pat."

Among the main prizes are a new car, television set, bedroom suite, chest of drawers, refrigerator, washer and dryer, camera and projector.

Caller for the night will be Bill Ingram.

Two Toronto Swimmers To Try Strait

A 25-year-old Toronto garbage man and a 60-year-old Lake Ontario swimmer are the latest Juan de Fuca Strait aspirants planning tries from Victoria early in June.

Coach Steve Mellors, who brought two unsuccessful challenges to the strait last year, will bring his new swimmers here by plane, he announced in Toronto at the weekend.

Ted Simmons, the garbage worker, did a three-mile work-out in 43-degree Lake Ontario Saturday at 48 strokes a minute.

The other swimmer, Fearnly Wheatcroft, made a luckless attempt to swim the lake in 1955 and is regarded by Mellors as "a likely candidate" to conquer the strait.

He will be the oldest candidate to make a try since Florence Chadwick, the Times and Bapco Paint started the strait swim craze in 1954.

Earlier, Mellors expressed interest in the Junior Chamber of Commerce plan for a mass swim attempt late in the summer, for which they hope to obtain prize money totalling $10,000.

So far Jaycees report a lack of enthusiasm by businesses asked to sign pledge cards for financial contributions to the prize fund. Firms would not be required to put up money unless the Victoria-Port Angeles swim is completed.

Car Washing Made Easier
With Sponges 'n' Wash Mitts

By PENNY SAVER

Car washing is pretty much a perpetual job, so we might just as well make the best of it and use as many shortcuts and work savers as we can. If you've ever tried to reach the centre of the hood with a big swishing cloth, you know how difficult it can be, and how wet and soggy one can become. The situation can be remedied, though, by attaching a foam rubber and plastic car washer on the end of the garden hose. In red, blue or green, the sponge suds up and helps to give your car a good cleaning. It has a shut-off valve at the base of the plastic funnel attached to the hose and the sponge, so that when you're not using it, it can be easily turned off.

If you want to get your hands into the cleaning job, what you want is a car wash mitt. They have elasticized cuffs, and are made from a variety of materials. One pair is of lambs-wool, soft and fluffy, and costs $1.59. Another pair is made of thick nylon and costs $1.39, and still another is of chenille shag in pure white, and costs $1.19.

To keep windows and mirrors clear and shiny, you'll find a little jiffy wash sponge and rubber squeegee perfect. Set into a plastic base, on one side is a strip of sponge, and on the other, a strip of rubber. Suds the surface with the sponge, and clean it off slick as can be with the rubber strip.

They're miniatures of the types used by window washers, and cost 49 cents each.

While you're going over your car and polishing and touching up, you might find a little nick or two caused by flying stones, or a scratch that you hadn't noticed before. With a few well placed strokes of a tiny brush, you can hide these scratches and marks with a matching car enamel. For 49 cents, a bottle of car-toned enamel is yours. Every color imaginable is available. Each bottle comes with a little brush, and general directions for effective use of the touch-up liquid.

If you'd like to know where to find any of the items mentioned in the column, call me at 2-3131 and I'll give you the names of the stores where I saw them.

AS WE LIVE

Nice Girls Shouldn't Compromise for Dates

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

When boys want to neck and girls do not, how can the girls handle the problem so they will not lose out on dates?

(Q) "After reading your column about kissing at teen-age parties, we are wondering if you can give us some advice in order to prevent this. We go around with boys a year older than ourselves. They seem to think that the only kind of a party is a necking party. If we don't agree, they get sore at us and won't come to our parties. We like parties and we like to have boys but we don't want our parties to be just for necking."—L.W.

(A) Unless you plan some form of entertainment to keep your guests occupied, your parties are likely to turn into necking parties. Why not plan dancing, card games, going to the movies and, as the weather improves, swimming parties and picnics?

Because these boys are older than you girls, they are likely to look upon you as willing to neck for the privilege of their company. Older boys usually feel that way about the younger girls they date. It is a form of masculine conceit.

If you and your friends do not want just necking on dates, then you must take a firm and united stand against it. If the boys "get sore" at you and turn to girls who will neck with them, then you will have to look for other boys who are more to your liking. I am sure there must be some boys in your school who do not feel that necking is the only way to have fun with girls.

When you are young, being popular with the boys and having lots of dates is very important. However, you will find that the type of boy you want as friends or would consider marrying as you grow older is not the type who is promiscuous or who admires girls who are promiscuous.

Therefore, it would be better to have fewer dates now and limit yourselves to parties with boys of the type who like and admire than to run the risk of getting the reputation of being "easy marks" for any boy. Once a reputation is established, it is very hard to live down.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

9-Day Diet Offers Pleasant
Deadline for Losing Weight

Being human, most of us need one-half cup squash, one glass of the whip of a deadline in order to accomplish what we should. Writers are known to fight their deadlines and even the little woman in the home might procrastinate if it were not for the demands of her family. My point is this—women put off losing weight, over and over again, until some crucial occasion spurs them into action.

This impetus may be anything from getting ready to be a bridesmaid in a wedding, going on a vacation, preparing for the Easter Parade, for swim suits, or seeing an old beau, to doctor's orders for health reasons.

My 9-Day Reducing Diet rewards one with a loss of from five to 10 pounds in nine days. This is a pleasant sort of deadline. You know that you can lose so many pounds within a given short time.

EIGHTH DAY MENU
Breakfast—One egg, poached or boiled, one thin dry slice of whole wheat toast, black coffee, one glass skimmed milk.

Luncheon—One portion salmon, celery sticks, one-half cup steamed carrots, one-half grapefruit.
Dinner—Minute or club steak (small), one-half cup string beans.

If you would like to have my 9-Day Reducing Diet which gives you a loss of from five to 10 pounds in nine days send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

'PIRATES OF PENZANCE' TONIGHT AT ROYAL

Contralto Eleanor Duff takes her second solo part in a musical in less than a week when she sings tonight at the Royal Theatre in the opening of "Pirates of Penzance," by Gilbert and Sullivan Society.

Under director Arthur Budd and conductor Jim Yeomans, the popular operetta runs to Wednesday for its three-day stand. Curtain time is 8.15.

Also in the cast will be Ruth Powell, Carol Dyson, Vanessa Lax, Ruth New, Alan Robertson, Lex Sutcliffe, Arthur Courville, Jim Mead-Robins and Norman Tyrrell.

Miss Duff's other roles were taken last Wednesday in the Choral Society's concert.

Canadian National Institute for the Blind will get part of the proceeds from the G and S production.

Widely Separated Views Held On 6-Day Business Week in City

A spot check of public reaction to the proposed six-day shopping week shows a wide variety of opinions among Victorians.

They are as divided as the merchants themselves over the merits of the six-day, five-and-one-half or five-day business week.

Those contacted were asked: Do you think Victoria stores should be open Wednesday afternoon to give shoppers and tourists the six-day week?

Following are varied sample replies:

D. L. Ludlam, 1837 Kings: "Six days a week is okay as long as employees are given the same number of working hours as now. The extended week would mean employment of more people, which would be a good thing also."

J. H. Fry, 1024 Colville: "The six-day week would be a good idea for those stores that cater to tourists."

Mrs. H. R. Paulin, 3067 Lark: "I'd be in favor of a five-day week, with stores closed on Saturday and open Friday night to give working people a chance to purchase and leave them with a free weekend. If stores stay open longer, it merely means more overhead for them, and people can't spend more money than they have anyway. If stores closed over the weekend, business on Monday wouldn't suffer at all."

Mrs. Phyllis Ritchie, 1208 Ormond: "If stores were open six days it would be good for the tourists. We have friends that come over by boat and they like to shop. If hours were staggered for the clerks it would be a good idea."

Mrs. S. W. Taylor, 22 Cambridge: "I'm a housewife accustomed to planning my shopping as far as Wednesday is concerned, but six days open for stores would be fine for tourists, at least for the summer months."

Mrs. S. L. Wilson, 1363 Hillside: "I'm quite satisfied with things as they are now."

Mrs. Allan Wood, 2741 Richmond: "I don't favor the six-day shopping week one little bit. I know it's a half day and arrange accordingly. Why toady to people in the United States? I do think store employees need a respite and they need that half day."

Mrs. T. Miller, 2514 Rock Bay: "I endorse six days a week. It's better for all around shopping for everyone concerned."

Mrs. A. L. Raybone, 624 Lampson: "The present shopping set-up suits me fine as both hubby and I have Saturday off."

Fred Randolph, 2541 Roseberry: "I back six days a week. It means more employment, and if tourists arrive here Wednesday afternoon they can't buy a darn thing."

M. P. Quinn, 959 Clent: "I think five and one-half days are quite adequate. I very definitely endorse shopping hours as they are now."

Mrs. F. H. Purcell, 81 Regina: "Store employees should be given a whole day off. In the old country, stores years ago were open until midnight, but things are different now. However, something should be done about the tourists."

Mrs. J. A. Morrison, 2388 Foul Bay: "I don't think stores being open all day Wednesday makes much difference to tourists. They check what the situation will be before they arrive. I'm not in favor of stores closing Saturday, an alternative proposal."

CBC

poration said it would require more to provide such services as color TV, enlargement of daytime TV programs, extension of TV to areas not now served and provision of additional facilities in served areas.

In addition to its revenue from program sponsors, the CBC since the 1953 budget has been financed by the 15-per-cent excise tax on radio and television sets and by federal grants.

Its brief suggested this is not a satisfactory method of raising money and indicated the corporation would like to get back to the former system of a tax on receivers. The $2.50-a-year fee was discontinued in 1953.

From the CBC's point of view, it said, this had been the best method of financing, though it realized it had many disadvantages. But such a form of money-raising amounted to a method of pay-as-you-go broadcasting and enabled a corporation to plan sensible development of service in relation to income.

Other points in the CBC presentation included:

1. If private TV stations are to be established in cities where the CBC has a TV station, the CBC should establish stations in some places now served only by private broadcasters.

2. National TV service can be continued at its present level at a cost of about $15 a year for each home with a TV set.

3. The CBC would like to see the Canadian content of its programs increased, but this is a matter of getting more money.

4. For the CBC to operate TV without commercials would double the estimated cost per home for television, to about $30.

5. There are strong arguments for the extension of radio coverage. The CBC plans, particularly, to extend service to northern Canada with beam transmitters at Vancouver and Winnipeg.

On the question of extending television coverage, the CBC said about 80 per cent of the population now can receive TV and, with an unspecified amount of additional funds, considerable further coverage could be developed through additional private stations and CBC relay transmitters.

Cost of serving an additional 10 to 13 per cent of the population by either method would add about $1.50 to the national estimate of $15 a TV home.

Discussing the role of privately-owned stations, the CBC stressed their importance as an integral part of the Canadian setup.

In a theoretical discussion of service without private stations, it said the national cost would be increased considerably.

"For about an extra $1 to $2 per television home per year," the corporation said, "the CBC could probably operate stations matching all present coverage, provided all carried a good deal of commercial business."

The CBC feeds programs to many of the private stations. It operates two transcontinental radio networks, Trans-Canada and Dominion. Its microwave television network now operating from Windsor, Ont., to Quebec City will be extended eventually across the country.

Regulations governing all broadcasting in Canada are established by the CBC board of governors under the Broadcasting Act. In its brief to the commission, the CBC said it does not oppose the operation of more than one TV station in a community, as sought by private broadcasters, but it would cost money and raise new problems.

Of demands on the CBC to take up color TV, the corporation said it would like to see this development but estimated color would increase its costs about 25 per cent.

The CBC said the television outlook for 10 years depends primarily on the level of funds contributed by the public through Parliament, "given a continuation of the present integration of the whole system under one body responsible to Parliament."

"A change in the structure of the system and the co-ordination of public and private facilities, public and commercial resources in it, would change the whole picture."

$15 RATE NECESSARY

It added, concerning the raising of money: "At a rate less than $15 per television home per year, it will not be possible to serve the many Canadians who are still without television, and the relative amount and effectiveness of Canadian programming on the Canadian air will diminish."

"At the $15 rate, we believe it will be possible to extend coverage somewhat and maintain the present place of Canadian programming in relation to imported programs."

"With additional amounts, it will be possible to extend coverage to areas without service, to improve the standards and amounts of Canadian programs, to provide alternate service that still has an appreciable Canadian content and to develop color television."

All these, the brief emphasized, were contingent on government decisions on the financial basis of the broadcasting system.

The CBC now operates on about $35,000,000 a year.

Dealing with radio broadcasting, the corporation said it expects to have a continued big job in this field and thinks there are strong reasons for providing coverage for the five per cent of Canadians not now served by radio. Half of these could be served at an annual cost of about $500,000.

"The corporation estimates that a sound-broadcasting service of good quality could be continued through the years ahead for the equivalent of $1 per head of the Canadian population or $4 per radio home."

"This amount would include the maintenance of present standards of service and the meeting of some unavoidable cost increases, but would not provide for any expansion in the present scope of programming."

"It would provide for bringing coverage through new facilities to at least half . . . of those still without Canadian radio service."

The CBC had this to say of the various methods of general financing that have been used at different times:

1. The licence fee on receiving sets, discontinued in 1953, has been the most satisfactory from the CBC's standpoint.

2. Statutory grants fixed by Parliament for a period of years assure a fixed income but do not vary with the developing expenses of the service.

3. The tax on receivers is falling off in relation to the number of TV viewers and, in any case, bears no direct relation to operating costs. It would be "only luck" if the proceeds in any year happened to be close to current operating costs.

4. Annual grants from Parliament for the full amount of CBC spending could put the service under the thumbs of politicians.

"With such direct (Cabinet) responsibility, inevitably would come direct control over the broadcasting activities of the corporation and, in implication if not in fact, control over programs and of their content."

"There obviously should be no such possibility provided for partisan influence or pressure, if it is desired to maintain the principle of safeguarding broadcasting from political control."

Gunderson Will Run 'Somewhere'

Possibility that former Social Credit finance minister Einar Gunderson may contest a seat at the next provincial election was seen here today.

He was quoted as saying "Of course I will run somewhere, but there's many a slip."

Mr. Gunderson was defeated in a Victoria by-election by George Gregory in late 1953, and since then has been economic advisor to the provincial government.

Political observers believe there is a possibility Mr. Gunderson may contest the Oak Bay seat when the next election is called.

Premier Bennett said "no comment" when asked to confirm or deny the report.

Lord Mansfield was lord chief justice of England for 32 years, ending 1788.

NEW MANAGER and part-owner of Victoria's proposed new television station CKDA-TV, Charles R. White, arrived from Lewiston, Idaho, this morning to take up residence here. With offices in the Douglas Hotel, Mr. White is already at work planning programs and schedules for Channel 6. In the U.S. he was responsible for the success of two TV stations. Married with one son, Mr. White has taken up residence at 2926 Phyllis Street.
